Jets Bomb Oil Dumps Near Port

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. Navy jets smashed a huge oil dump Friday just 15 miles from the port of Haiphong in the third straight day of punishing raids against the heart of North Viet Nam. The bombings brought denunciations and warnings from both Red China and Russia.

U.S. ground forces pressed on against the fleeing remnants of a shattered Red battalion apparently trying to reach sanctuary across the border in Cambodia. Air Force planes struck Red positions in the south.

Military emphasis was on the air strikes in the North. U.S. Navy jets from the carrier Constellation slammed "all bombs on targets" at the Dong Nham oil storage area northwest of Haiphong, raising huge clouds of smoke.

Raids also were recorded against the capital at Hanoi 30 miles away, where U.S. Air Force planes bombed fuel depots three miles from the center of the city on Wednesday.

There was no word on any losses in Friday's bombing attack.

DAMAGE ESTIMATES

U.S. spokesmen were trying to estimate the total damage of the raids that began Wednesday on the fringes of Hanoi and Haiphong. They said figures might be available today.

An F105 Air Force jet operating against targets in the south was downed by Communist forces. Pilot Lew W. Shattuck, a 33-year-old captain from Vancouver, Wash., parachuted into the sea and was fished out in good condition.

A seaplane piloted by Capt. Duanne A. Miller, 32, of Seymour, Wis., rescued him within 40 minutes.

By tragic error, three F100 Air Force jet fighters dropped loads of canister-type antipersonnel bombs on a South Vietnamese village killing five civilians and wounding 43 others.

They were trying to jettison the bombs in an isoiated area before landing at Bin Hoa Airbase. The bombs came loose over the village of Ta Nuyen.

The Dong Nham site held about 11,000 metric tons of oil, approximately 8 per cent of North Viet Nam's capacity. The Haiphong and Hanoi areas hit in raids Wednesday and Thursday had about 106,000 tons—60 per cent of the country's capacity.

It worked in an attack on Russia too charging the United States informed the Soviets beforehand of the raids.

But in Moscow, Soviet Communist Party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev said Russia would increase aid to North Viet Nam to counter stepped up U.S. air attacks.

Furthermore, he warned, Russia had "superiority" over the United States in missiles, submarines and spy satellites.

Outside the Iron Curtain protests mounted. Leftwing British laborites in London threatened to hamstring the government's domestic program unless Prime Minister Harold Wilson agreed to immediate parliamentary debate on Viet Nam.

Hatten Gets Pay Raise On 1st Day

West Monroe's new Board of Aldermen Friday, in their first meeting, handed the town's equally new mayor, Bert Hatten, a boost in pay.

The raise — from $8,460 to $10,000 — was made retroactive on Jan. 1 of this year, bringing the outgoing mayor, J. Allan Norris, in for boost in wages already paid and increased retirement benefits.

The council also endorsed the Fifth District sales tax with the stipulation that it include an amendment by Sen. Jamar Adcock that would give Ouachita municipalities a share of the revenue originally destined solely for education.

The vote on the pay raise was 3-2. Hatten has no vote. He said he "took no stand" on the matter.

The one cent sales tax bill, authored by Rep. Lantz Womack, would implement teacher salary schedules and return the excess to the parish school systems in the district. Adcock's amendment would divide 51 per cent of the excess over implementation among Monroe, 75 per cent; West Monroe, 22 per cent, and Sterlington, three per cent.

Hatten said he would use the money to "strengthen a very weak revenue system which West Monroe has had for years."

Opponents on the pay raise were Truett Thorn and Dr. E. S. Blackmon. Voting for it were Charles Anding, Roland Nix and Jeff Caldwell Jr.

Roland Nix was elected mayor pro-tem. He will act in the mayor's absence.

Orleans And Haughton Girls Win Third Night

When the grand, exciting merry - go - round came to a stand - still Friday night at the 17th Annual Miss Louisiana Pageant, off stepped winners Barbara Bollinger (Miss Greater New Orleans), dizzy from the wild applause, and Denise Chandler (Miss Haughton), with eyes full of stars.

Miss Chandler, 18, a model and a talented swimmer, after winning the swim suit competition Friday night, may suddenly change her mind about her ambition to become a secretary. The "most responsive audience of the pageant," which almost filled Neville Auditorium seemed to be wanting a more glamorous future for her.

The crowd that gathered in Southern comfort to see the Louisiana Belles parade down the runway were so graciously receptive during the third preliminary pageant that master of ceremonies Bob Evans paid it a special compliment. "This is the best audience we've had all week," Evans said.

But even if half the audience had been asleep, Miss Alaska's rousing "Dixie!" would have—and did — bring the audience to its feet.

Miss Greater New Orleans, a 19 - year old actress, musician and honor student, presented what the nightclub critics call a "sleeper." She came to the stage with a timid smile and left to wild applause. Her costume was a red - and - white calico gown with an organdy overshirt. She seemed reluctant to part with her hat full of flowers even when "swamped" with well-wishers back stage.

"I'm gonna pop! Just pop!" That's how happy she was when Miss Mississippi gave her a heroine's hug after the show.

She closed her selection with "If I Loved You" under a blue spotlight and there was no doubt the audience did.

The half - Swedish beauty presents a 35 - 22 - 35 silhouette plus brains, talent, personality and an elfish gleam in her wide brown eyes.

She won her Miss Greater New Orleans crown with "Carousel," and was encouraged by the prospect of a scholarship to come to Monroe for the Miss Louisiana Pageant.

MISS HAUGHTON

Miss Haughton will be 18 on July 29 and is a former Homecoming Queen. She is 5-feet-4-inches tall and weighs 100 pounds. She has brown eyes and light brown hair and a fair complexion. Once elected Miss National Physical Culture, she has a trim 34 - 22 - 34 figure.

She attended Haughton High School and is undecided about her college career. Titles she has held include Miss Rare Breed, Head Majorette, and FFA Sweetheart. She is sponsored by the Haughton Jaycees.

Planes Sink 3 Red Boats In Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Three North Vietnamese torpedo boats were sunk after a two hour navel and air battle 60 miles outside the Communist port of Haiphong Friday.

Eighteen North Vietnamese crewmen were rescued by American warships before their vessels went down in the Gulf of Tonkin, the U.S. command announced.

RETURNS SAFELY

One American warplane from the aircraft carrier Constellation was damaged by anti-aircraft fire from one of the Communist ships but returned safely to the carrier.

The battle, which took place in international waters, began when the three North Vietnamese patrol torpedo boats closed in at high speed on U.S. ships patrolling the area, the Navy said.

Planes from the aircraft carrier Constellation were immediately called in and as they approached the area, the Communist ships opened up with anti-aircraft fire.

The planes "responded in an exchange of gunfire. The patrol boats were disabled and halted. But efforts by surface units to capture them failed as the boats sank," the official announcement said.

The engagement was one of the few naval battles in the Viet Nam war. It followed increased U.S. bombings of Communist fuel installations in North Viet Nam.

The U.S. Command announcement said the report of the battle was preliminary.

There was no immediate explanation as to the circumstances of the rescue of the enemy seamen.

Yugoslavian Party Purges Secret Police

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav Communist party announced Friday a purge of what it called power-hungry elements in the secret police. It also disclosed the resignation of Vice President Alexander Rankovic from a Communist party post.

BREAKS NEWS

President Tito broke the news of trouble within the powerful State Security Service (secret police) at a meeting of the 155-member Central Committee of the League of Yugoslav Communists. The meeting was held on the Adriatic island of Brioni, where Tito has a summer palace, and was reported by the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug.

Tito accused factions of the secret police of endangering "our Socialist development" by seeking power over the party and by using methods reminiscent of Stalin.

The surprising announcement of Rankovic's resignation and the ouster of Stefanovic, both closely identified with the secret police, came later in the meeting from the head of a special commission set up to investigate the police organization.

Rankovic was considerd one of Yugoslavia's top three leaders — along with Tito and Parliament's President Edward Kardelj — and thus was seen as a possible successor to Tito.

Ky Begins Talks With Buddhists, Jails 2 Generals

Viet Leader Paving Way For Voting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky tightened his control over South Viet Nam Friday by jailing two dissident generals and starting a new round of talks with Buddhist moderates who are anxious for a political compromise.

Ky disclosed that Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, who only recently vied with him for power; and Maj. Gen. Ton That Dinh were both under house arrest, awaiting trial.

QUANG FINISHED

He held talks with the moderate faction of the Unified Buddhist Church in order to clear the path for the Sept. 11 election of a Constituent Assembly to draft a new constitution. The Buddhists, even the moderates, have talked of boycotting the election. But lately the moderates have been backing off from their stand.

Quang, who is on a hunger strike, has led the long fight of the more extreme Buddhists to get Ky to resign and restore civilian rule. Ky says the September elections are a step toward civilian rule and has indicated he expects to step down next year.

These events came amid new optimism among the Vietnamese leaders about the military situation in the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas and the Communist North Vietnamese.

Ky, beaming as he talked to newsmen at the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles from Saigon, said the Viet Cong can be brought to its knees next year, "perhaps by next January."

The American bombing raids on the fuel dumps of Hanoi and Haiphong, Ky said, were "a necessity, and very good news."

A pilot himself and a marshal in the air force, Ky described his grip on the political situation in South Viet Nam in air force terms.

"I am very satisfied," he said. "It's like coming back from a mission — I drop bombs, I feel very happy, I accomplish my duty."

Ky, who becomes 36 years old next Sept. 8, definitely had the upper hand in Viet Nam. His main foes were jailed, and the Buddhist opposition was reduced largely to weak gestures of protest, such as Quang's anti-government fast, now in its 24th day.

Recently regarded as a power capable of upsetting the regime, the militant monk has vowed to take only liquids until Ky resigns. He is under police guard in the Saigon Maternity Clinic.

Ky was cautious not to antagonize the moderate Buddhist leaders in a country where between 70 and 80 per cent of the population is Buddhist, at least nominally.

He held a brief meeting with Thich Tam Chau, moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, in a continuing effort to muster the institute's support for next September's elections.

The institute has threatened to boycott the vote but Tam Chau said earlier this week he may call off the boycott.

Lunar Space Shot

Rocket Too Fast To Achieve Goal

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Explorer payload rocketed into space on a lunar mission Friday, but officials reported several hours later it was traveling too fast to achieve its goal of becoming America's first satellite of the moon.

It was the seventh time in as many tries over an eight year period that the United States failed in attempts to orbit the moon.

The space agency said it hoped to salvage at least part of Explorer's scientific objectives by jockeying it into a lopsided orbit about the earth.

RETROROCKET

A ground station planned to fire the spacecraft's retrorocket Friday night to send the spacecraft whipping into an orbit ranging from 18,000 to 270,000 miles above the earth.

The 206-pound craft — originally designated Lunar Explorer — vaulted away from Cape Kennedy on Friday at 12:02 p.m. to begin an intended three-day, 246,000-mile trip through space and be kicked into an orbit about the moon on July 4 by its retrorocket.

After six hours of tracking the satellite and studying data, however, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration late Friday said the Delta booster rocket apparently had a "hot" burn in its second stage, sending the payload into space at a speed slightly more than desired.

Explorer was to have zipped toward the moon at an initial velocity of 26,670 miles an hour, gradually slowing as it went farther away from earth.

A NASA spokesman said this planned speed was exceeded by only about 50 miles an hour — but that is too fast for the retrorocket to slow the craft sufficiently so that it would be captured by the moon's weak gravity field.

Hospitals Problem Free On Medicare's 1st Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hospital like efficiency the nation's medical plant easily absorbed Friday the first day impact of medicare — and, in many Southern cities - desegregated thousands of hospital beds.

City after city reported, "no rush," "everything normal," "no problems." "Going smoothly." Some hospital officers predicted heavier admissions after the Fourth of July. Others cautioned that the full impact is still a month or more away.

PREPARED

Stewart and Robert M. Ball, Social Security administrator, estimated that 94 per cent of the nation's general hospitals, representing 95.9 per cent of the beds, were prepared and qualified to participate in medicare.

They met reporters jointly in Social Security's Telecommunications Center in Baltimore, Md. There, a nationwide wire network will feed data on the 19 million medicare policyholders into and out of computers.

The totals given by Ball and Stewart were a bit higher than those from other federal offices, but all sources agreed on this: Hospital participation was far broader, especially in the South, than authorities had dared to hope for a month or two ago.

Most of the several hundred Southern hospitals outside the program had failed to comply with the no-racial-discrimination provisions of the Civil Rights Act. They are therefore ineligible for federal payments under medicare of any other federal program.

President Johnson — known to have been seriously concerned a few weeks ago at predictions that elderly patients would suddenly swamp understaffed hospital facilities — was notified by telephone of medicare's flying start and strong participation.

Johnson received a wire from Dr. Edwin L. Crosby of Chicago, director of the American Hospital Association, reporting that hospitals are "ready, willing and able" to execute medicare as planned.

There will be some operational difficulties, Johnson was told, but they "will be few in number, quickly identified, and subject to correction." In reply, the President telegraphed Crosby his thanks for the hospital association's "outstanding effort to prepare for medicare," and added: "I am confident that you will measure up to the noble challenge of the days ahead."

Medicare Has Little Effect On Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—With most of the state's hospitals operating at capacity anyway, the arrival of Medicare Friday brought few immediate changes in Louisiana.

The majority of the participating hospitals already had waiting lists, so only genuine emergency cases could be admitted whether they were Medicare patients or not.

Dr. Hyman Mayerson, acting director of Touro Infirmary here, said the biggest problem encountered so far was with paperwork.

"We had some 90 patients already in the hospital aged 65 or older," Dr. Mayerson said. "Some of these were on Kerr-Mills, so we had to contact each one to see whether they come under Medicare or would be handling their paymnts privately."

Dr. Mayerson said the situation was further complicated by a shortage of proper forms and the lack of guidelines in handling indigent patients in the hospital's previously free clinic.

Shower Chances At 30 Per Cent

For the second day in a row, area residents receive some relief from high 90 temperature with showers of .20 inches on Friday. The high recorded Friday was 92 between 10 and 12 a.m. Low temperature was 73. Both were lower than last year's 96 and 75.

Expected high today is 88 to 94. Tonight's low will be between 60 and 74. Probability of rain is 30 percent this afternoon and 10 percent tonight.

Variable winds 5 to 15 mph will accompany partly cloudy skies and warm weather though Sunday.

Earthly Paradise As Test Site

'Pyramid' Makes Odd Sight

By E. BUZZ MILLER

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — The first thing that catches the eye of a visitor from a plane approaching France's nuclear test site in the South Pacific makes him wonder if he isn't in the land of the Pharoahs instead of Polynesia.

There in the middle of Mururoa Atoll, 800 miles southeast of Tahiti, is a pyramid.

It looks just like an ancient Egyptian pyramid.

I saw it this week as the first and only American allowed to visit President Charles de Gaulle's Pacific test site where any day the first of four nuclear blasts will take place.

Nine French journalists, an Australian and I were flown to Mururoa. We also visited Hao, another atoll 625 miles southeast of Tahiti. Hao, 300 miles northwest of Mururoa, will be used as home base for the tests.

Mururoa is almost evacuated. Five warships and two converted passenger liners stand ready to leave the area upon command.

Beyond were buildings topped by a five-story control tower. We were told that the air base alone cost more than $10 million.

Gen. Jean Thiry, director of all atomic activities for France, personally led our tour. He took us through decontamination centers for airplanes, small ships, any size article and humans. We took a quick tour of giant atomic research laboratories and a complete village of concrete built for the 3,100 scientists and military stationed on the island.

The general said he considered Hao as a "super airport."

French sources in Paris have said the first two bombs, each with an explosive power of less than 100 kilotons, will be fired from a tower in Mururoa Lagoon. They will contain no thermonuclear material.

One, if not both, of the next two will be dropped from a Mirage IV bomber. They also will not be thermonuclear.

The blasts will take place anytime between now and Sept. 15.

Tito accused factions of the secret police of endangering "our Socialist development" by seeking power over the party and by using methods reminiscent of Stalin.

The surprising announcement of Rankovic's resignation and the ouster of Stefanovic, both closely identified with the secret police, came later in the meeting from the head of a special commission set up to investigate the police organization.

Rankovic was considerd one of Yugoslavia's top three leaders — along with Tito and Parliament's President Edward Kardelj — and thus was seen as a possible successor to Tito.

Ky Begins Talks With Buddhists, Jails 2 Generals

Viet Leader Paving Way For Voting

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky tightened his control over South Viet Nam Friday by jailing two dissident generals and starting a new round of talks with Buddhist moderates who are anxious for a political compromise.

Ky disclosed that Maj. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, who only recently vied with him for power; and Maj. Gen. Ton That Dinh were both under house arrest, awaiting trial.

QUANG FINISHED

He held talks with the moderate faction of the Unified Buddhist Church in order to clear the path for the Sept. 11 election of a Constituent Assembly to draft a new constitution. The Buddhists, even the moderates, have talked of boycotting the election. But lately the moderates have been backing off from their stand.

Quang, who is on a hunger strike, has led the long fight of the more extreme Buddhists to get Ky to resign and restore civilian rule. Ky says the September elections are a step toward civilian rule and has indicated he expects to step down next year.

These events came amid new optimism among the Vietnamese leaders about the military situation in the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas and the Communist North Vietnamese.

Ky, beaming as he talked to newsmen at the Bien Hoa airbase 15 miles from Saigon, said the Viet Cong can be brought to its knees next year, "perhaps by next January."

The American bombing raids on the fuel dumps of Hanoi and Haiphong, Ky said, were "a necessity, and very good news."

A pilot himself and a marshal in the air force, Ky described his grip on the political situation in South Viet Nam in air force terms.

"I am very satisfied," he said. "It's like coming back from a mission — I drop bombs, I feel very happy, I accomplish my duty."

Ky, who becomes 36 years old next Sept. 8, definitely had the upper hand in Viet Nam. His main foes were jailed, and the Buddhist opposition was reduced largely to weak gestures of protest, such as Quang's anti-government fast, now in its 24th day.

Recently regarded as a power capable of upsetting the regime, the militant monk has vowed to take only liquids until Ky resigns. He is under police guard in the Saigon Maternity Clinic.

Ky was cautious not to antagonize the moderate Buddhist leaders in a country where between 70 and 80 per cent of the population is Buddhist, at least nominally.

He held a brief meeting with Thich Tam Chau, moderate head of the Buddhist Institute, in a continuing effort to muster the institute's support for next September's elections.

The institute has threatened to boycott the vote but Tam Chau said earlier this week he may call off the boycott.

Lunar Space Shot

Rocket Too Fast To Achieve Goal

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Explorer payload rocketed into space on a lunar mission Friday, but officials reported several hours later it was traveling too fast to achieve its goal of becoming America's first satellite of the moon.

It was the seventh time in as many tries over an eight year period that the United States failed in attempts to orbit the moon.

The space agency said it hoped to salvage at least part of Explorer's scientific objectives by jockeying it into a lopsided orbit about the earth.

RETROROCKET

A ground station planned to fire the spacecraft's retrorocket Friday night to send the spacecraft whipping into an orbit ranging from 18,000 to 270,000 miles above the earth.

The 206-pound craft — originally designated Lunar Explorer — vaulted away from Cape Kennedy on Friday at 12:02 p.m. to begin an intended three-day, 246,000-mile trip through space and be kicked into an orbit about the moon on July 4 by its retrorocket.

After six hours of tracking the satellite and studying data, however, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration late Friday said the Delta booster rocket apparently had a "hot" burn in its second stage, sending the payload into space at a speed slightly more than desired.

Explorer was to have zipped toward the moon at an initial velocity of 26,670 miles an hour, gradually slowing as it went farther away from earth.

A NASA spokesman said this planned speed was exceeded by only about 50 miles an hour — but that is too fast for the retrorocket to slow the craft sufficiently so that it would be captured by the moon's weak gravity field.

Hospitals Problem Free On Medicare's 1st Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hospital like efficiency the nation's medical plant easily absorbed Friday the first day impact of medicare — and, in many Southern cities - desegregated thousands of hospital beds.

City after city reported, "no rush," "everything normal," "no problems," "Going smoothly." Some hospital officers predicted heavier admissions after the Fourth of July. Others cautioned that the full impact is still a month or more away.

PREPARED

Stewart and Robert M. Ball, Social Security administrator, estimated that 94 per cent of the nation's general hospitals, representing 95.9 per cent of the beds, were prepared and qualified to participate in medicare.

They met reporters jointly in Social Security's Telecommunications Center in Baltimore, Md. There, a nationwide wire network will feed data on the 19 million medicare policyholders into and out of computers.

The totals given by Ball and Stewart were a bit higher than those from other federal offices, but all sources agreed on this: Hospital participation was far broader, especially in the South, than authorities had dared to hope for a month or two ago.

Most of the several hundred Southern hospitals outside the program had failed to comply with the no-racial-discrimination provisions of the Civil Rights Act. They are therefore ineligible for federal payments under medicare of any other federal program.

President Johnson — known to have been seriously concerned a few weeks ago at predictions that elderly patients would suddenly swamp understaffed hospital facilities — was notified by telephone of medicare's flying start and strong participation.

Johnson received a wire from Dr. Edwin L. Crosby of Chicago, director of the American Hospital Association, reporting that hospitals are "ready, willing and able" to execute medicare as planned.

There will be some operational difficulties, Johnson was told, but they "will be few in number, quickly identified, and subject to correction." In reply, the President telegraphed Crosby his thanks for the hospital association's "outstanding effort to prepare for medicare," and added: "I am confident that you will measure up to the noble challenge of the days ahead."

Medicare Has Little Effect On Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—With most of the state's hospitals operating at capacity anyway, the arrival of Medicare Friday brought few immediate changes in Louisiana.

The majority of the participating hospitals already had waiting lists, so only genuine emergency cases could be admitted whether they were Medicare patients or not.

Dr. Hyman Mayerson, acting director of Touro Infirmary here, said the biggest problem encountered so far was with paperwork.

"We had some 90 patients already in the hospital aged 65 or older," Dr. Mayerson said. "Some of these were on Kerr-Mills, so we had to contact each one to see whether they come under Medicare or would be handling their paymnts privately."

Dr. Mayerson said the situation was further complicated by a shortage of proper forms and the lack of guidelines in handling indigent patients in the hospital's previously free clinic.

Shower Chances At 30 Per Cent

For the second day in a row, area residents receive some relief from high 90 temperature with showers of .20 inches on Friday. The high recorded Friday was 92 between 10 and 12 a.m. Low temperature was 73. Both were lower than last year's 96 and 75.

Expected high today is 88 to 94. Tonight's low will be between 60 and 74. Probability of rain is 30 percent this afternoon and 10 percent tonight.

Variable winds 5 to 15 mph will accompany partly cloudy skies and warm weather though Sunday.

Earthly Paradise As Test Site

'Pyramid' Makes Odd Sight

By E. BUZZ MILLER

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — The first thing that catches the eye of a visitor from a plane approaching France's nuclear test site in the South Pacific makes him wonder if he isn't in the land of the Pharoahs instead of Polynesia.

There in the middle of Mururoa Atoll, 800 miles southeast of Tahiti, is a pyramid.

It looks just like an ancient Egyptian pyramid.

I saw it this week as the first and only American allowed to visit President Charles de Gaulle's Pacific test site where any day the first of four nuclear blasts will take place.

Nine French journalists, an Australian and I were flown to Mururoa. We also visited Hao, another atoll 625 miles southeast of Tahiti. Hao, 300 miles northwest of Mururoa, will be used as home base for the tests.

Mururoa is almost evacuated. Five warships and two converted passenger liners stand ready to leave the area upon command.

Beyond were buildings topped by a five-story control tower. We were told that the air base alone cost more than $10 million.

Gen. Jean Thiry, director of all atomic activities for France, personally led our tour. He took us through decontamination centers for airplanes, small ships, any size article and humans. We took a quick tour of giant atomic research laboratories and a complete village of concrete built for the 3,100 scientists and military stationed on the island.

The general said he considered Hao as a "super airport."

French sources in Paris have said the first two bombs, each with an explosive power of less than 100 kilotons, will be fired from a tower in Mururoa Lagoon. They will contain no thermonuclear material.

One, if not both, of the next two will be dropped from a Mirage IV bomber. They also will not be thermonuclear.

The blasts will take place anytime between now and Sept. 15.

No. 13, Broken Mirror Didn't Stop Orleans Beauty

By BOB CARROLL
World Staff Writer

"Superstitions count only when they are good" quipped Miss Barbara Ann Bollinger Friday night after winning the third night preliminary talent division in the Miss Louisiana Pageant at Neville Auditorium.

Earning third night honors with the New Orleans beauty was Miss Denise Kay Chandler who won in the swimsuit competition.

Miss Bollinger, who was No. 13 in the lineup of 38 beauties in the contest, was the last to perform in the pageant, and if that wasn't bad enough, she "broke the first mirror in my life" only Friday afternoon while dressing for the pageant.

Her winning talent was a medley of songs from the Broadway musicial "Carousel" which drew immediate audience reaction in the form of several rounds of applause throughout the number.

"I just do what I feel like when on stage" the 19-year-old Miss Greater New Orleans said after her captivating performance. She added that she hasn't done the routine the same twice, and she apparntly was at ease on the stage, evidenced by her smooth singing and freedom of movement.

This same routine was used by Miss Bollinger when she won the New Orleans pageant which brought her into the Miss Louisiana title competition. She has appeared in two musicials in New Orleans — portraying Eliza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady" and the lead role in "Little Mary Sunshine."

The authentic calico costume that Miss Bollinger wore in her performance was the same that she used in the New Orleans musicals. She helped design it.

A dead mike at the beginning her number didn't scare the lively queen. "I didn't realize that it was dead until it came on" (only moments after her routine began) she said. She added that this was her first time to use a hand mike which she adapted to readily. "It gives a lot more freedome of movement," which she needed for her routine, she said.

Miss Bollinger hopes to attend the American Academy of Music and Dramtic Arts in New York and pursue a career in musical comedy.

She called the pageant a "wonderful opportunity to make friends." She didn't know anyone before the pageant, but calls several of the girls by their first names now. A feeling which she shares with most of the other girls is nervousness, which "We all try to comfort each other, knowing how the other feels."

The shapely Miss Chandler, reigning Miss Haughton, admits having to watch her weight to keep her trim 34-22-34 figure in proportion to 5-4 and 110 pounds. "I do exercises," the 17-year-old beauty said, naming twirling, modern dance, swimming, water skiing and modeling as her favorite ways of enjoying her free time.

"I didn't believe it," was her first reaction to hearing that she had been named a preliminary winner. "It is wonderful," she said, sporting a big smile.

One of the biggest problems that Miss Chandler has faced in the pageant is "being tired."

All of the other 37 girls weren't strangers to this young lady as she named Miss Sheila Nelson, Miss North Caddo Parish, as her suitemate. They both plan to enter Louisiana Tech this fall. She also is a good friend of Rose Ann Scarborough, Miss Bossier Parish who "lives just a few miles from me."

NEW YORK (UPI)—Locals of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) throughout the country were given permission Friday to establish informational picket lines at CBS stations and facilities in support of the radio announcers' strike against CBS station KBCS in San Francisco.

Recovery Of 2 Items Is Reported

Two items reported stolen to the Monroe Police Department Thursday were recovered Friday, officials at the police department announced.

A Cushman motor scooter belonging to E. F. Kenney, 1500 Forsythe St., was recovered Friday morning when a juvenile wrecked the vehicle on Ridge Avenue in West Monroe. He was carried to Glenwood Hospital and was to be turned over to juvenile authorities.

A transmission for a 1963-65 Chevrolet, reported stolen by H. Redmond, 3708 Jackson St., was recovered when an anonymous caller telephoned Redmond and told him where he could find the tranmission early Friday.

The theft of a fly rod and two tackle boxes was reported to Monroe police Friday by Mrs. Murray Hudson, 500 Forsythe Ave. According to police reports, she said that the articles were taken from a jeep parked at her home.

Walter Franklin Bugg, 57, Tyler, Tex., was booked at 11:25 p.m. Thursday on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by Monroe police. He was apprehended in the 4200 block of DeSiard St.

West Monroe police booked Joseph Moore, 34, of Memphis, Tenn., at 11 p.m. Thursday on a warrant from the Memphis Police Department. He was turned over to the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department to await return to Memphis.

competition for the Miss Louisiana crown.

Winners to date are Wanda Smith (Miss Claiborne Parish), Talent winner Wednesday; Nancy Sutton (Miss Jackson Parish) swim suit winner Wednesday; Joy Wood (Miss Northeast) talent winner Thursday, and Rebecca Ruth Butler (Miss Bienville Parish), swim suit winner Thursday.

Tonight's pageant activities culminates in the crowning of Miss Louisiana 1966. The Top 10 will be announced and will be judged in all three categories — gown, swim suit and talent.

Special entertainment tonight will be presented by Miss Louisiana Lynda Ferguson. Just before the announcement of Miss Congenialtiy, Miss Ferguson will give her farewell.

After the competitors are narrowed to five, each will be asked a question, then, following the announcement of the talent winner, Miss Louisiana 1966 will be crowned. This will be the first year that the Miss Louisiana pageant has its own throne chair and mantle. The mantle was designed and made by Jaycee Jaynes Bobbie Perry and Jean Lee. The throne was designed by Mrs. Perry.

Also for the first time this year the Top 10 will receive scholarships.

FUTURE WINNER

In the audience was 6-week-old Mary Ann Ellis of Amite, La., who (according to her mother, Mrs. Addison Ellis) is training to be Miss Louisiana 1984. "She's here to learn what she will need to win," her mother said.

Perhaps she can sing the moody theme song from "Sound of Music" as presented by Miss Louisiana Watermelon, or a modern jazz number to "Taste of Honey" as offered by Miss Gonzales.

If she has talent with a monologue, she may portray Liza Doolittle with a Cockney accent as did Miss Madison Parish, or she may display her own wardrobe as did Miss Bienville Parish.

If Miss Louisiana 1984 has a voice like Barbra Streisand, she may take a cue from Miss Slidell and sing "Second - Hand Rose" in hand-me-down pink slippers.

For inspiration, there was Miss Lake Charles' comedy sketch to an original recording; Miss West Monroe's "Yellow Bird"; Miss Thibodaux's "Heat Wave" and "Drums Galore" ballets, and Miss Holiday In Dixie's exceptionally different number on the electric organ, "That's All."

Dance crazes will change many times before the young lady appears on the Monroe stage but she can take a tip from Miss Beauregard Parish and show the audience how to do the latest dance craze (at present, "The Surf," a combination of Go-Go and Hawaiian Hula).

For variety in monologues, the future queen may try Miss West Carroll's "Ballad of the Hearth Weaver," and for a different and useful talent, she can take a tip from Miss Bossier Parish and present a story illustrated with drawings.

However she wins, she'll show regality in her bearing and hospitality in her heart, as did the queens Friday night at the air conditioned palace for a waiting queen.

Jurors Hit Sales Tax Legislation

Prompting the opposition was an amendment authored by Sen. Jamar Adcock, Monroe, that would distribute excess revenue from the one cent sales tax between Monroe, West Monroe and Sterlington, and presumably leave the police jury out of the money.

T. W. Humphries, jury president, contacted Adcock by telephone Friday after an informal session held by the 10 jurors but declined to disclose Adcock's reaction to the opposition.

Under the solon's plan, 51 per cent of tax revenue in excess of that needed to implement teachers' salaries in the Fifth District would be returned to Ouachita Parish. Of this money, Monroe would get 75 per cent, West Monroe 22 per cent and Sterlington three per cent. The bill, by Rep. Lantz Womack of Franklin Parish, originally fed the excess back into the school systems.

"If this tax was to be used exclusively for the schools, we could live with it," Robert Downing, Ward 10 juror said. "But if it's to be split among other political bodies, then Ouachita is not being treated fairly."

Lloyd Coon, Ward 6, said he opposed the tax, but supposing passage, he said, "I think the police jury should receive a portion of it."

Beauty Pageant Parade Scheduled Here Today

"Les Belles de Nouveau Louiane," the Girls of New Louisiana, will be featured in a 2 p.m. parade today through the Twin Cities. Thirty-eight beauties who have been competing in Monroe for the Miss Louisiana crown will be joined in the parade by community leaders, bands, marching units and floats.

The coronation of Miss Louisiana 1966 wil culminate tonight activities at Neville Auditorium as the annual pageant comes to a close.

The parade and the pageant are sponsored by the Monroe Jaycees. The parade has been scheduled near the end of the pageant this year, instead of at the beginning as has been the case in the past, so that parade activities will stir interest in tonight's pageant, Jaycee Cliff Lawrence said.

Also featured will be visiting queens from Alaska, Arkansas and Mississippi. Miss Louisiana, Lynda Ferguson, and the beauty representatives from the state will ride new convertibles during the parade.

Gov. John McKeithen is expected to be in Monroe to ride in the parade and to crown Miss Louisiana 1966 at tonight's pageant.

The parade will originate on Pine Street in West Monroe; proceed down Pine to Trenton; cross the downtown section of West Monroe on Trenton to the old traffic bridge.

In Monroe, the route will pick up at DeSiard Street, continue through the downtown section, and end at Sixth Street.

Heading the parade line will be the El Karubah Shrine drum and bugle corps, followed by Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard, West Monroe Mayor W. B. (Bert) Hatten, visiting dignitaries, beauty queens and marching units.

Floats will be managed by the Twin City Jamboree and one co-sponsored by hte Stagecoach Inn of West Monroe and Radio Station KREB.

Antique cars entered by Flynn's Grill and the Blue Grass Liquor Company will dot the march. The Monroe Fire Department will display its new ladder truck.

In the audience was 6-week-old Mary Ann Ellis of Amite, La., who (according to her mother, Mrs. Addison Ellis) is training to be Miss Louisiana 1984. "She's here to learn what she will need to win," her mother said.

Perhaps she can sing the moody theme song from "Sound of Music" as presented by Miss Louisiana Watermelon, or a modern jazz number to "Taste of Honey" as offered by Miss Gonzales.

If she has talent with a monologue, she may portray Liza Doolittle with a Cockney accent as did Miss Madison Parish, or she may display her own wardrobe as did Miss Bienville Parish.

If Miss Louisiana 1984 has a voice like Barbra Streisand, she may take a cue from Miss Slidell and sing "Second - Hand Rose" in hand-me-down pink slippers.

For inspiration, there was Miss Lake Charles' comedy sketch to an original recording; Miss West Monroe's "Yellow Bird"; Miss Thibodaux's "Heat Wave" and "Drums Galore" ballets, and Miss Holiday In Dixie's exceptionally different number on the electric organ, "That's All."

Dance crazes will change many times before the young lady appears on the Monroe stage but she can take a tip from Miss Beauregard Parish and show the audience how to do the latest dance craze (at present, "The Surf," a combination of Go-Go and Hawaiian Hula).

For variety in monologues, the future queen may try Miss West Carroll's "Ballad of the Hearth Weaver," and for a different and useful talent, she can take a tip from Miss Bossier Parish and present a story illustrated with drawings.

However she wins, she'll show regality in her bearing and hospitality in her heart, as did the queens Friday night at the air-conditioned palace for a waiting queen.

Jurors Hit Sales Tax Legislation

Prompting the opposition was an amendment authored by Sen. Jamar Adcock, Monroe, that would distribute excess revenue from the one cent sales tax between Monroe, West Monroe and Sterlington, and presumably leave the police jury out of the money.

T. W. Humphries, jury president, contacted Adcock by telephone Friday after an informal session held by the 10 jurors but declined to disclose Adcock's reaction to the opposition.

Under the solon's plan, 51 per cent of tax revenue in excess of that needed to implement teachers' salaries in the Fifth District would be returned to Ouachita Parish. Of this money, Monroe would get 75 per cent, West Monroe 22 per cent and Sterlington three per cent. The bill, by Rep. Lantz Womack of Franklin Parish, originally fed the excess back into the school systems.

"If this tax was to be used exclusively for the schools, we could live with it," Robert Downing, Ward 10 juror said. But if it's to be split among other political bodies, then Ouachita is not being treated fairly."

Lloyd Coon, Ward 6, said he opposed the tax, but supposing passage, he said, "I think the police jury should receive a portion of it."

Beauty Pageant Parade Scheduled Here Today

"Les Belles de Nouveau Louiane," the Girls of New Louisiana, will be featured in a 2 p.m. parade today through the Twin Cities. Thirty-eight beauties who have been competing in Monroe for the Miss Louisiana crown will be joined in the parade by community leaders, bands, marching units and floats.

The coronation of Miss Louisiana 1966 wil culminate tonight activities at Neville Auditorium as the annual pageant comes to a close.

The parade and the pageant are sponsored by the Monroe Jaycees. The parade has been scheduled near the end of the pageant this year, instead of at the beginning as has been the case in the past, so that parade activities will stir interest in tonight's pageant, Jaycee Cliff Lawrence said.

Also featured will be visiting queens from Alaska, Arkansas and Mississippi. Miss Louisiana, Lynda Ferguson, and the beauty representatives from the state will ride new convertibles during the parade.

Gov. John McKeithen is expected to be in Monroe to ride in the parade and to crown Miss Louisiana 1966 at tonight's pageant.

The parade will originate on Pine Street in West Monroe; proceed down Pine to Trenton; cross the downtown section of West Monroe on Trenton to the old traffic bridge.

In Monroe, the route will pick up at DeSiard Street, continue through the downtown section, and end at Sixth Street.

Heading the parade line will be the El Karubah Shrine drum and bugle corps, followed by Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard, West Monroe Mayor W. B. (Bert) Hatten, visiting dignitaries, beauty queens and marching units.

Floats will be managed by the Twin City Jamboree and one co-sponsored by hte Stagecoach Inn of West Monroe and Radio Station KREB.

Antique cars entered by Flynn's Grill and the Blue Grass Liquor Company will dot the march. The Monroe Fire Department will display its new ladder truck.

Two Gigantic Stories

What would happen in this day of high speed news if two former presidents of the United States were to die on the same day and that day were Independence Day? Stories, pictures and tributes would flow out at a tremendous rate and within hours, if not minutes, most of the people in this country would know nearly all the facts and people throughout the world would receive the news in all languages.

One of the biggest Fourth of July news breaks in history occurred when two former presidents died on the same day, 140 years ago. Thomas Jefferson and John Adams both died on July 4, 1826. Jefferson probably did more than any other man to make July 4 a holiday and it was on that day he died. Adams was an old Revolutionary patriot also.

Because of poor communications in 1826, news of the deaths of these two former presidents was slow in reaching the people. Some were not aware of what had happened for a good many days and it was weeks before the nation as a whole was as well apprized of the facts as it would now be within one hour after the deaths occurred.

So slow was the news in traveling on that Fourth of July in 1826 that most people carried on their celebrations without being aware that the nation had lost two of its great patriots. There were no laws in those days against the discharge of firecrackers and not many restrictive laws on other things, and that Fourth of July was a noisy occasion.

In the 140 years since the deaths of Jefferson and Adams this country has made advances so startling that travel outside the bounds of the earth has become a reality and the settlement of other planets has become a possibility.

Yet, in all the industries and enterprises of the world, we know of none which has made greater advances in speed than have the newspapers and other news media. When stories of great moment develop, people all over the world are informed within minutes. This is something of which we can be proud.

A Safety Suggestion

No Joke About It

Many business conventions are a gathering of people of like minds getting together and talking to each other about things that they should be telling the public instead of each other. A refreshing departure from the usual pattern took place at the North Dakota Oilmen's Conference a few months ago. A working newspaperman, the managing editor of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, Herald, was invited to tell the oilmen what the people of North Dakota think about the oil business. In preparation for his assignment, he made a brief one-man public opinion survey.

When he asked people about percentage depletion, he found about one fourth of them correctly identified it with an "incentive to explore" for new oil reserves. About the same number considered it a synonym for government subsidy. Smaller numbers were even more unkind. They considered it a loophole for fat cats — or license to deplete the treasury. Another term which he found widely misunderstood is "wildcat". About 2 out of 7 thought that meant a "sharp operator". Another 3 out of 7 equated the term with "shoestring oil seeker" or "get rich quick". One in 7 correctly thought of "far out exploration" for oil.

This widespread lack of knowledge concerning one of the nation's most basic industries would be amusing except for a few grim facts. The oil industry is a free competitive enterprise operating under representative government. As such, it is subject to the influence of public policy and laws imposed by the representatives of the people who carry out what they feel are the people's wishes. Moreover, there is not an individual in this country who is not dependent upon the oil industry as a consumer or worker. Its ability to operate at a reasonable profit and meet an ever - growing demand for its products is vital. In the long run, the public in return for an uninterrupted supply of petroleum products must understand the functioning of the industry that provides them. Lack of knowledge is no joke.

Bribing With Own Money

There was once a time when we thought people in the United States were the smartest in the world. They were building things faster, inventing things faster and outdoing people of other nations in so many ways that many of our most modern facilities and conveniences were found in greater numbers in this country than in all of the rest of the world combined. That was when the federal government wanted business and industry to invest and expand.

Now the people are electing officials and supporting movements which cause us to believe they have slipped mightily in common sense if not in actual brain-power.

More than 100 years ago, a Frenchman said: "The American Republic will endure until politicians discover they can bribe the people with their own money." United States politicians have made that discovery and have been using it with a vengeance ever since the presidency of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. The result is that we are selling our birthright for a "mess of pottage" — and we are paying for the "mess of pottage" with our own money. Is there any way in which we can still look upon the people in the United States as being smart?

Commenting on the trend, Ernest G. Swigert, chairman of the board of directors of Hyster Company, stated: "Personally, I want to stop our frightening slide into a totalitarian state and I am not particularly interested in the party label of the candidate. But, if either of our political parties succumbs to the temptation of placing expediency above principle, they had better remember what the Frenchman said about bribing people with their own money."

$34 Million Repair Bill

Thinking of having a little repair work done on your house? How about spending $34 million? Why be "chicken"? If you have to do a job, why not "do it up brown".

Apparently that is the way Congress thinks. It was decided something must be done about the west front of the United States Capitol. Its underpinnings are weak, its sandstone is weathered and dangerously cracked.

But simple repairs on the last remaining exterior facade of the original Capitol were ruled insufficient by a congressional commission. As long as work had to be done, the commission decided, more office space and tourist facilities might as well be added. Cost of it all — an estimated $34 million.

ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Cut In Milk Fund Dropped

Secretary Of Agriculture Does Full Flip-Flop

THE JOHNSON Administration is backing down on its once-insistent demand that Congress drastically slash the school milk program — from $103 million to $21 million.

Without fanfare the sponge was thrown in by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman at a meeting of the Senate Agriculture Committee. It was considering a bill by Senator Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman, to continue the widely popular program for four more years.

To the committee's astonishment he announced the administration now favors making the program permanent with no ceiling on its funds.

"I would suggest for your consideration," Freeman told the senators, "that the program be made permanent, and that the $100 million limitation on its appropriations be eliminated. We see no basis for limiting the duration of the program or its funds."

STRIKINGLY illustrative of the extent of this sudden switch is the stand taken by Assistant Agriculture Secretary George Mehren a little more than a month previous.

He firmly told the Senate committee there was no economic justification for the school milk program. Said Mehren:

"The long - standing reason for a special milk program to alleviate surplus production conditions does not now exist. There is no evidence there will be surplus production in the near future. We do not now need a special milk program for the reason."

What Congress will do about the administration's latest shift is still uncertain. But one thing is absolutely definite:

The school milk program will be continued by Congress at its present $103-million-a-year level for at least four more years — and possibly longer, on a progressively larger scale, as vigorously advocated by Senator William Proxmire, D-Wis.

For Proxmire, the administration's change of mind is a resounding victory. He was the first to assail the proposed axing of the school milk program, and spearheaded the militant bipartisan fight that forced the administration to run for cover.

NO MORE SURPLUSES — Senator Proxmire is now leading a new bipartisan demand for a hike in the government price support on milk — from $3.50 to $4 a hundredweight.

Potently backing him is Senator George Aiken, Vt., ranking Republican member of the Agriculture Committee. Both are stressing that the administration's price support policy is steadily driving dairy farmers out of business with resulting loss in production at time when consumption is increasing.

"Production of milk in May was the lowest it has been since 1940," points out Proxmire, "when the nation's population was only 65 per cent of its present level. Production last month was 4 per cent below May of 1965.

"With a rising population, greater affluence and ability to afford the most nutritious foods, it is clear that milk production sufficient for a nation of 133 million in 1940 is far from enough for a far more prosperous nation of 195 million today. The production of milk is going to be grossly insufficient to meet the nation's needs unless the administration acts promptly to lift the support price to at least $4 a hundredweight."

SENATOR AIKEN says categorically the U.S. has run out of surplus in dairy products, and cites the following official figures to prove it:

In May 1965, milk production totaled 12,206,000,000 lbs. In May of this year output had fallen to 11,707,000,000 lbs.

As of July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had a stockpile of 282,620,291 lbs. in government - owned dried milk. On March 31, 1966, this surplus had sunk to 67,699,102 lbs.

On July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had a stockpile of 158,990,918 lbs of government - owned butter. On March 1, 1966, this immense surplus had shrunk to 717,269 lbs.

On July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had 2,088,565 lbs. of government - owned cheese. Today — there isn't a single pound of surplus cheese.

"Our population is growing and consumption is growing," says Aiken, "but the number of dairy farmers is steadily decreasing and so is dairy production. Unless the administration moves quickly and forcefully to counter this situation, our country is going to be in a serious predicament on a vital food."

MORE SHORTAGE — Wheat production in the U.S., like milk, is also steadily shrinking.

Representative Paul Findley, R-Ill., warns that the administration must lose no time in taking measures to boost wheat crops. He points out that the outlook is that by July 1, 1967, the carry-over in wheat will not exceed 250 million bushels.

Findley is strongly urging an immediate further increase in the domestic wheat allotment "so farmers may prepare now to expand their planting of winter wheat this fall," and the complete elimination of the export subsidy with no reduction in U.S. exports.

"The United States is the only nation with the reserve wheat acres and the potential capacity to increase wheat production dramatically in 1967," says Findley. "As of June 10, 1966, the Commodity Credit Corporation had 279 million bushels of wheat in its noncommitted inventory. It has an additional 65 million bushels on farms under reseal program. This constitutes a major part of the world's uncommitted wheat reserve.

"Yet the U.S. government is continuing to price its wheat as though this were a buyer's market, rather than the seller's market which clearly exists."

What Should Be Done In Jobs For Elderly?

MILLIONS OF older Americans who are now officially retired are able and willing to work — at least part-time — and to perform a tremendous range of badly-needed services.

Yet the efforts we are actually making to provide jobs for the elderly are pitifully limited and half-hearted. "It is time," as one expert says, "to stop the small-scale approach."

What should be done?

In the past few weeks I have pored over thousands of pages of evidence, testimony and recommendations on jobs for the elderly. Here are the highlights that stand out:

1) The Office of Economic Opportunity, which has recently launched a limited number of highly successful projects employing elderly Americans, should greatly expand such projects. For example, this spring's short-lived "Medicare Alert" campaign, in which 14,500 older workers tracked down millions of other elderly citizens to inform them about Medicare doctor insurance, might be continued to perform many other services.

2) THE OEO'S "Foster Grandparents," which employs older Americans to work with underprivileged children in institutions, should be greatly expanded. There are more than 20,000 abandoned institutionalized children, but to date there are only about 1,100 "Foster Grandparents." The elderly could also help relieve the nationwide shortages of tutors and other school helpers.

3) In August, 1965, President Johnson announced a massive project to train elderly Americans as "home health aides" to perform a variety of tasks to help fill the gap of an anticipated 50,000 workers because of Medicare. Today Medicare is in effect but not a single home health aide has been trained. Tens of thousands of additional orderlies, kitchen assistants, nurse aides, etc. will be needed in hospitals clinics and nursing homes under Medicare. Again, older Americans obviously could help fill this need with only a minimum of training.

4) Older workers also could serve as "handymen" in rural areas: making regular visits in pick-up trucks to other elderly citizens; performing such services as repairing broken window panes, patching roofs, helping plant small gardens; transporting those in need to the doctor or local anti-poverty agencies.

As evidence of this need, an estimated 2½ million U. S. homes now occupied by elderly citizens are now classifed as "dilapidated" or in otherwise seriously deficient condition.

5) TWO BILLS moving through Congress call for a new "Senior Service Corps" providing elderly citizens across the nation with a wide variety of paying jobs in all these areas and in a wide variety of other community services. Such a Corps could be an imaginative answer to many of the employment-income problems.

6) An imperative is greatly expanded opportunities for short term training, basic education, special employment and job counseling services. A key point is that two-thirds of the retirees who wish to continue working want part-time jobs.

And perhaps most fundamental of all is the need for an overhaul of all of our attitudes toward arbitrary retirement. As the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress reported recently to the President: "The idea of a fixed retirement age makes little sense in a society so diverse in its work and skills."

In the words of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, we must break away "from the sterile view of man that fixes a time to learn, a time to earn and a time to die."

". . . This same Jesus, which is taken up from you into Heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Acts 1:11

Communists In Open Stir New Problems

AFTER YEARS of hiding under a cabbage leaf, the Communist Party U. S. A. has partly emerged from its self-imposed obscurity. Looking about it at the "change" in popular attitudes — or at least the admission by the Liberal Establishment that it had no real hard feelings, the CPUSA has dipped its big toe in political waters, with the promise of a big splash to follow.

To be specific about it, the party held its first slightly open convention in many years. The press was invited to one session and the invited "observers" were not given the X-ray treatment to determine whether or not they carried miniature tape recorders, button-hole cameras, and itching powder.

That convention is already serving a useful purpose. One of the delegates was Bettina Aptheker. She was one of the leaders of the rioting and planned academic chaos at the University of California in Berkeley, but those who noted that her father was the Communist Party theoretician, Herbert Aptheker, were charged with guilt by chromosome. Such hardy souls as called her a member found themselves at the receiving end of ancient eggs and the McCarthyism charge.

WITH THE PARTY at least admitting that Communists really exist, it has cleared the air for some but made life exceedingly difficult for others who insist that it is all the figment of diseased political imaginations. In the future, it will be possible to call Miss Aptheker a Communist when she again lead the storm troops of juvenile Marxism -Leninism into battle.

I have never feared a man who says, "I am a Communist and this is what I believe." He has labeled himself and what he says or does has a reasonable chance of being assessed properly. I do feel concern over the man who, just having paid his party dues, draws himself up indignantly to deny membership, lectures with outraged piety those who have called him to order, and then proceeds to say and do all the things that the avowed Communist has already said and done.

An open Communist convention also serves as a fever chart for that curious illness of youth and the intellectuals. At a time when the United States is at de facto war with the North Vietnamese and the Chinese Reds, the number of Communists in this country is increasing. I single out those two groups because party membership was never cherished by the so-called working class in America. Communism's major hold has been among college youth and the intellectuals — a catch - all word which has come to include actors and entertainers.

THAT GROWTH has been noted by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, but it is automatic in the Liberal Establishment to hoot at everything he says. The party now claims 12,000 dues-paying members — an increase of 2,000 in the past year. That may seem small until we recall what the researches of scholars and security agencies have conclusively shown — that for every organizationally integrated Communist Party member there are at least ten others whose affiliation is carried only in the records scrupulously maintained in Moscow.

To this figure of about 130,000 can be added those who with reasonable determination follow the "party line" — something that no one has mentioned in a decade. There were 1,000 delegates at the convention, which makes the 12,000 dues - paying figures seem very small to experienced observers.

But even the "official's figure should give Americans considerable pause. Far fewer Communists took over the Soviet Union in 1918 - 1919. They did it against the aroused opposition of democratic Russians and the military onslaught of anti - Communist armies of varying ideologies. The mission of the CPUSA is far less ambitious or all - encompassing than that.

THE KREMLIN is not out for the overthrow of our government — yet. And any steps in that direction are carried out by the underground Communist Party of which the CPUSA's nominal chief, Gus Hall, knows very little indeed. The American party is expected to proliferate "fronts," indoctrinate the young with a suspicion of their society, stir up the kind of trouble we are now experiencing over Viet Nam, and set up policy - destructive cadres in and around sensitive agencies.

With the party tentatively moving into the open, it may be possible to distinguish the sheep from the goats — no matter how often the goats says baa-baa. It may be, that is, if those informed and responsible anti-Communists are allowed to cry havoc without been dismissed by the mass media as John Birchers, conspiracy theorists, and general all - around lice.

BARRY GOLDWATER

LBJ Great Society Practical Shambles

LYNDON JOHNSON'S Great Planned Society has always been a moral disaster. Now there is new evidence that it is a practical shambles as well.

Morally, the disaster involves a program which turns people into government dependents to politically exploit them. Institutionalizing poverty and then forming the poor into a solid voting bloc is an example.

The practical shambles comes to ight in such operations as the highly publicized Medicare program. Its impractical nature is seen in the peril in which it places the entire Social Security system, already stretched thin financially.

The addition of Medicare-like features in France, where the system also was stretched thin, has virtually bankrupt it. The millions who support Social Security here have grave causes to worry about what the Medicare program will do over the next few years to the U.S. system.

In the shorter range, however there is equal evidence of flaws in Medicare as wide as the Grand Canyon.

IT IS NOW obvious that many elderly Americans are either confused or misled by the program. The fact that government offices stayed open on Memorial Day in the hope that more eligible folks would sign up for the program clearly shows there is general confusion.

And it is slowly beginning to seep in on many people that Medicare does not supply medical care in the usual sense. It supplies payment for a rigidly limited number of hospital-care services over a period of 60 days per year

But more important, the Medicare program, such a highly charged part of Lyndon Johnson's Presidential campaign, has been undertaken despite a crisis in American medical care. That crisis is the now critical shortage of doctors and nurses.

In a few months, when many older folks will be lined up for benefits under Medicare, they are going to find instance after instance in which their demands will overtax already straining hospital facilities and staffs. The result will be a crushing new weight, perhaps even a dangerous one, on an already perilous medical structure.

A YEAR AGO, for instance, American doctors were able to fill only about 21,000 of 38,000 openings for resident physicians in U.S. hospitals. A dozen years ago we used to have more than 50 physicians for every 100,000 citizen. Now we have only about 45 doctors for every 100,000. Nursing has been shrinking at an even greater rate. One major city had more than 5,000 nurses 30 years ago; the same city now lists only 3,500, and they are paid less than the city's garbage collectors, according to one critic.

These shortages, I am convinced, are one of the tolls we are paying for government policies which regularly short-change professional incentive, exploit the most productive, dedicated and creative members of society and which seek to turn nursing and doctoring into a government "corps" rather than permit them the freedom which has, in the past, helped make them such meaningful careers.

Medicare, as with everything else in the Great Planned Society, is a political promise built on moral and practical quicksand

Two Gigantic Stories

What would happen in this day of high speed news if two former presidents of the United States were to die on the same day and that day were Independence Day? Stories, pictures and tributes would flow out at a tremendous rate and within hours, if not minutes, most of the people in this country would know nearly all the facts and people throughout the world would receive the news in all languages.

One of the biggest Fourth of July news breaks in history occurred when two former presidents died on the same day, 140 years ago. Thomas Jefferson and John Adams both died on July 4, 1826. Jefferson probably did more than any other man to make July 4 a holiday and it was on that day he died. Adams was an old Revolutionary patriot also.

Because of poor communications in 1826, news of the deaths of these two former presidents was slow in reaching the people. Some were not aware of what had happened for a good many days and it was weeks before the nation as a whole was as well apprized of the facts as it would now be within one hour after the deaths occurred.

So slow was the news in traveling on that Fourth of July in 1826 that most people carried on their celebrations without being aware that the nation had lost two of its great patriots. There were no laws in those days against the discharge of firecrackers and not many restrictive laws on other things, and that Fourth of July was a noisy occasion.

In the 140 years since the deaths of Jefferson and Adams this country has made advances so startling that travel outside the bounds of the earth has become a reality and the settlement of other planets has become a possibility.

Yet, in all the industries and enterprises of the world, we know of none which has made greater advances in speed than have the newspapers and other news media. When stories of great moment develop, people all over the world are informed within minutes. This is something of which we can be proud.

No Joke About It

Many business conventions are a gathering of people of like minds getting together and talking to each other about things that they should be telling the public instead of each other. A refreshing departure from the usual pattern took place at the North Dakota Oilmen's Conference a few months ago. A working newspaperman, the managing editor of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, Herald, was invited to tell the oilmen what the people of North Dakota think about the oil business. In preparation for his assignment, he made a brief one-man public opinion survey.

When he asked people about percentage depletion, he found about one fourth of them correctly identified it with an "incentive to explore" for new oil reserves. About the same number considered it a synonym for government subsidy. Smaller numbers were even more unkind. They considered it a loophole for fat cats — or license to deplete the treasury. Another term which he found widely misunderstood is "wildcat". About 2 out of 7 thought that meant a "sharp operator". Another 3 out of 7 equated the term with "shoestring oil seeker" or "get rich quick". One in 7 correctly thought of "far out exploration" for oil.

This widespread lack of knowledge concerning one of the nation's most basic industries would be amusing except for a few grim facts. The oil industry is a free competitive enterprise operating under representative government. As such, it is subject to the influence of public policy and laws imposed by the representatives of the people who carry out what they feel are the people's wishes. Moreover, there is not an individual in this country who is not dependent upon the oil industry as a consumer or worker. Its ability to operate at a reasonable profit and meet an ever - growing demand for its products is vital. In the long run, the public in return for an uninterrupted supply of petroleum products must understand the functioning of the industry that provides them. Lack of knowledge is no joke.

Bribing With Own Money

There was once a time when we thought people in the United States were the smartest in the world. They were building things faster, inventing things faster and outdoing people of other nations in so many ways that many of our most modern facilities and conveniences were found in greater numbers in this country than in all of the rest of the world combined. That was when the federal government wanted business and industry to invest and expand.

Now the people are electing officials and supporting movements which cause us to believe they have slipped mightily in common sense if not in actual brain-power.

More than 100 years ago, a Frenchman said: "The American Republic will endure until politicians discover they can bribe the people with their own money." United States politicians have made that discovery and have been using it with a vengeance ever since the presidency of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. The result is that we are selling our birthright for a "mess of pottage" — and we are paying for the "mess of pottage" with our own money. Is there any way in which we can still look upon the people in the United States as being smart?

Commenting on the trend, Ernest G. Swigert, chairman of the board of directors of Hyster Company, stated: "Personally, I want to stop our frightening slide into a totalitarian state and I am not particularly interested in the party label of the candidate. But, if either of our political parties succumbs to the temptation of placing expediency above principle, they had better remember what the Frenchman said about bribing people with their own money."

$34 Million Repair Bill

Thinking of having a little repair work done on your house? How about spending $34 million? Why be "chicken"? If you have to do a job, why not "do it up brown".

Apparently that is the way Congress thinks. It was decided something must be done about the west front of the United States Capitol. Its underpinnings are weak, its sandstone is weathered and dangerously cracked.

But simple repairs on the last remaining exterior facade of the original Capitol were ruled insufficient by a congressional commission. As long as work had to be done, the commission decided, more office space and tourist facilities might as well be added. Cost of it all — an estimated $34 million.

A Safety Suggestion

ROBERT ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

Cut In Milk Fund Dropped

Secretary Of Agriculture Does Full Flip-Flop

THE JOHNSON Administration is backing down on its once-insistent demand that Congress drastically slash the school milk program — from $103 million to $21 million.

Without fanfare the sponge was thrown in by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman at a meeting of the Senate Agriculture Committee. It was considering a bill by Senator Allen Ellender, D-La., chairman, to continue the widely popular program for four more years.

To the committee's astonishment he announced the administration now favors making the program permanent with no ceiling on its funds.

"I would suggest for your consideration," Freeman told the senators, "that the program be made permanent, and that the $100 million limitation on its appropriations be eliminated. We see no basis for limiting the duration of the program or its funds."

STRIKINGLY illustrative of the extent of this sudden switch is the stand taken by Assistant Agriculture Secretary George Mehren a little more than a month previous.

He firmly told the Senate committee there was no economic justification for the school milk program. Said Mehren:

"The long - standing reason for a special milk program to alleviate surplus production conditions does not now exist. There is no evidence there will be surplus production in the near future. We do not now need a special milk program for the reason."

What Congress will do about the administration's latest shift is still uncertain. But one thing is absolutely definite:

The school milk program will be continued by Congress at its present $103-million-a-year level for at least four more years — and possibly longer, on a progressively larger scale, as vigorously advocated by Senator William Proxmire, D-Wis.

For Proxmire, the administration's change of mind is a resounding victory. He was the first to assail the proposed axing of the school milk program, and spearheaded the militant bipartisan fight that forced the administration to run for cover.

NO MORE SURPLUSES — Senator Proxmire is now leading a new bipartisan demand for a hike in the government price support on milk — from $3.50 to $4 a hundredweight.

Potently backing him is Senator George Aiken, Vt., ranking Republican member of the Agriculture Committee. Both are stressing that the administration's price support policy is steadily driving dairy farmers out of business with resulting loss in production at time when consumption is increasing.

"Production of milk in May was the lowest it has been since 1940," points out Proxmire, "when the nation's population was only 65 per cent of its present level. Production last month was 4 per cent below May of 1965.

"With a rising population, greater affluence and ability to afford the most nutritious foods, it is clear that milk production sufficient for a nation of 133 million in 1940 is far from enough for a far more prosperous nation of 195 million today. The production of milk is going to be grossly insufficient to meet the nation's needs unless the administration acts promptly to lift the support price to at least $4 a hundredweight."

SENATOR AIKEN says categorically the U.S. has run out of surplus in dairy products, and cites the following official figures to prove it:

In May 1965, milk production totaled 12,206,000,000 lbs. In May of this year output had fallen to 11,707,000,000 lbs.

As of July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had a stockpile of 282,620,291 lbs. in government - owned dried milk. On March 31, 1966, this surplus had sunk to 67,699,102 lbs.

On July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had a stockpile of 158,990,918 lbs of government - owned butter. On March 1, 1966, this immense surplus had shrunk to 717,269 lbs.

On July 1, 1965, the Commodity Credit Corporation had 2,088,565 lbs. of government - owned cheese. Today — there isn't a single pound of surplus cheese.

"Our population is growing and consumption is growing," says Aiken, "but the number of dairy farmers is steadily decreasing and so is dairy production. Unless the administration moves quickly and forcefully to counter this situation, our country is going to be in a serious predicament on a vital food."

MORE SHORTAGE — Wheat production in the U.S., like milk, is also steadily shrinking.

Representative Paul Findley, R-Ill., warns that the administration must lose no time in taking measures to boost wheat crops. He points out that the outlook is that by July 1, 1967, the carry-over in wheat will not exceed 250 million bushels.

Findley is strongly urging an immediate further increase in the domestic wheat allotment "so farmers may prepare now to expand their planting of winter wheat this fall," and the complete elimination of the export subsidy with no reduction in U.S. exports.

"The United States is the only nation with the reserve wheat acres and the potential capacity to increase wheat production dramatically in 1967," says Findley. "As of June 10, 1966, the Commodity Credit Corporation had 279 million bushels of wheat in its noncommitted inventory. It has an additional 65 million bushels on farms under reseal program. This constitutes a major part of the world's uncommitted wheat reserve.

"Yet the U.S. government is continuing to price its wheat as though this were a buyer's market, rather than the seller's market which clearly exists."

What Should Be Done In Jobs For Elderly?

MILLIONS OF older Americans who are now officially retired are able and willing to work — at least part-time — and to perform a tremendous range of badly-needed services.

Yet the efforts we are actually making to provide jobs for the elderly are pitifully limited and half-hearted. "It is time," as one expert says, "to stop the small-scale approach."

What should be done?

In the past few weeks I have pored over thousands of pages of evidence, testimony and recommendations on jobs for the elderly. Here are the highlights that stand out:

1) The Office of Economic Opportunity, which has recently launched a limited number of highly successful projects employing elderly Americans, should greatly expand such projects. For example, this spring's short-lived "Medicare Alert" campaign, in which 14,500 older workers tracked down millions of other elderly citizens to inform them about Medicare doctor insurance, might be continued to perform many other services.

2) THE OEO'S "Foster Grandparents," which employs older Americans to work with underpriviledged children in institutions, should be greatly expanded. There are more than 20,000 abandoned institutionalized children, but to date there are only about 1,100 "Foster Grandparents." The elderly could also help relieve the nationwide shortages of tutors and other school helpers.

3) In August, 1965, President Johnson announced a massive project to train elderly Americans as "home health aides" to perform a variety of tasks to help fill the gap of an anticipated 50,000 workers because of Medicare. Today Medicare is in effect but not a single home health aide has been trained. Tens of thousands of additional orderlies, kitchen assistants, nurse aides, etc. will be needed in hospitals clinics and nursing homes under Medicare. Again, older Americans obviously could help fill this need with only a minimum of training.

4) Older workers also could serve as "handymen" in rural areas: making regular visits in pick-up trucks to other elderly citizens; performing such services as repairing broken window panes, patching roofs, helping plant small gardens; transporting those in need to the doctor or local anti-poverty agencies.

As evidence of this need, an estimated 2½ million U. S. homes now occupied by elderly citizens are now classifed as "dilapidated" or in otherwise seriously deficient condition.

5) TWO BILLS moving through Congress call for a new "Senior Service Corps" providing elderly citizens across the nation with a wide variety of paying jobs in all these areas and in a wide variety of other community services. Such a Corps could be an imaginative answer to many of the employment-income problems.

6) An imperative is greatly expanded opportunities for short term training, basic education, special employment and job counseling services. A key point is that two-thirds of the retirees who wish to continue working want part-time jobs.

And perhaps most fundamental of all is the need for an overhaul of all of our attitudes toward arbitrary retirement. As the National Commission on Technology, Automation and Economic Progress reported recently to the President: "The idea of a fixed retirement age makes little sense in a society so diverse in its work and skills."

In the words of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, we must break away "from the sterile view of man that fixes a time to learn, a time to earn and a time to die."

Communists In Open Stir New Problems

AFTER YEARS of hiding under a cabbage leaf, the Communist Party U. S. A. has partly emerged from its self-imposed obscurity. Looking about it at the "change" in popular attitudes — or at least the admission by the Liberal Establishment that it had no real hard feelings, the CPUSA has dipped its big toe in political waters, with the promise of a big splash to follow.

To be specific about it, the party held its first slightly open convention in many years. The press was invited to one session and the invited "observers" were not given the X-ray treatment to determine whether or not they carried miniature tape recorders, button-hole cameras, and itching powder.

That convention is already serving a useful purpose. One of the delegates was Bettina Aptheker. She was one of the leaders of the rioting and planned academic chaos at the University of California in Berkeley, but those who noted that her father was the Communist Party theoretician, Herbert Aptheker, were charged with guilt by chromosome. Such hardy souls as called her a member found themselves at the receiving end of ancient eggs and the McCarthyism charge.

WITH THE PARTY at least admitting that Communists really exist, it has cleared the air for some but made life exceedingly difficult for others who insist that it is all the figment of diseased political imaginations. In the future, it will be possible to call Miss Aptheker a Communist when she again lead the storm troops of juvenile Marxism -Leninism into battle.

I have never feared a man who says, "I am a Communist and this is what I believe." He has labeled himself and what he says or does has a reasonable chance of being assessed properly. I do feel concern over the man who, just having paid his party dues, draws himself up indignantly to deny membership, lectures with outraged piety those who have called him to order, and then proceeds to say and do all the things that the avowed Communist has already said and done.

An open Communist convention also serves as a fever chart for that curious illness of youth and the intellectuals. At a time when the United States is at de facto war with the North Vietnamese and the Chinese Reds, the number of Communists in this country is increasing. I single out those two groups because party membership was never cherished by the so-called working class in America. Communism's major hold has been among college youth and the intellectuals — a catch - all word which has come to include actors and entertainers.

THAT GROWTH has been noted by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, but it is automatic in the Liberal Establishment to hoot at everything he says. The party now claims 12,000 dues-paying members — an increase of 2,000 in the past year. That may seem small until we recall what the researches of scholars and security agencies have conclusively shown — that for every organizationally integrated Communist Party member there are at least ten others whose affiliation is carried only in the records scrupulously maintained in Moscow.

To this figure of about 130,000 can be added those who with reasonable determination follow the "party line" — something that no one has mentioned in a decade. There were 1,000 delegates at the convention, which makes the 12,000 dues - paying figures seem very small to experienced observers.

But even the "official's figure should give Americans considerable pause. Far fewer Communists took over the Soviet Union in 1918 - 1919. They did it against the aroused opposition of democratic Russians and the military onslaught of anti - Communist armies of varying ideologies. The mission of the CPUSA is far less ambitious or all - encompassing than that.

THE KREMLIN is not out for the overthrow of our government — yet. And any steps in that direction are carried out by the underground Communist Party of which the CPUSA's nominal chief, Gus Hall, knows very little indeed. The American party is expected to proliferate "fronts," indoctrinate the young with a suspicion of their society, stir up the kind of trouble we are now experiencing over Viet Nam, and set up policy - destructive cadres in and around sensitive agencies.

With the party tentatively moving into the open, it may be possible to distinguish the sheep from the goats — no matter how often the goats says baa-baa. It may be, that is, if those informed and responsible anti-Communists are allowed to cry havoc without been dismissed by the mass media as John Birchers, conspiracy theorists, and general all - around lice.

LBJ Great Society Practical Shambles

LYNDON JOHNSON'S Great Planned Society has always been a moral disaster. Now there is new evidence that it is a practical shambles as well.

Automobile Accidents On Increase

Automobile accidents in Monroe have increased during the first six months of this year, a comprehensive report comparing traffic accidents in the first half of 1966 with the same period in 1965 released Friday by James C. Kelly, Monroe chief of police, shows.

A total of 1,128 accidents were reported during the period of this year, in comparison to 1,088 in the same time period of 1965.

Injuries decreased by 10 in 1966, while in 1965 there were 339 persons injured in automobile accidents. Five deaths have resulted from accidents so far in 1966, as compared to two deaths in the first six months of 1965.

The report shows that the times that most accidents occur is between 1-3 p.m. and 5-6 p.m. He said that the age group most represented in accidents was from 25 to 34.

Sen. Ellender Expresses Satisfaction

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen Allen J. Ellender, D-La. has expressed satisfaction at the House Agriculture Committee's approval of his bill to reverse the trend of rural migration to urban areas.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, had introduced his rural development legislation to provide economic planning assistance to rural governments.

The senator said that he had also gained Senate appropriations Subcommittee approval of $2.5 million in funds to get the new development program off the ground in the next fiscal year.

He pointed out that Congress has made increasingly large amounts of aid available to urban communities but had treated rural governments "like poor relations."

He said, "Most of these areas not only in our state but all over the nation are rapidly losing population as their young people are drawn to the jobs and opportunities in the cities."

Ellender has said that he hopes this legislation will reverse this trend.

Report To President

Education Stays Unequal In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public education is largely unequal in most sections of the country despite the 1954 school desegregation decision of the Supreme Court, the U.S. education commissioner reported Friday.

Commissioner Harold Howe II, in a report to President Johnson and Congress, said the inequality is especially marked where Negroes form any significant proportion of the population.

"The great majority of American children attend schools that are largely segregated," the report said. "Among minority groups, Negroes are by far the most segregated."

The report said almost 80 per cent of all white pupils attend schools that are from 90 to 100 per cent white. And at least 97 per cent attend schools that are 50 per cent or more white.

"For Negro pupils, segregation is more nearly complete in the South (as it is for whites also), but it is extensive also in all the other regions where the Negro population is concentrated: the urban North, Midwest, and West," the report said.

"More than 65 per cent of all Negro pupils in the first grade attend schools that are between 90 and 100 per cent Negro. And 87 per cent at grade one, and 66 per cent at grade 12, attend schools that are 50 per cent or more Negro. In the South, most students attend schools that are 100 per cent white or Negro."

The report, entitled "Equality of Educational Opportunity," is based on a survey done by the U.S. Office of Education of 4,000 schools, 605,000 children and 60,000 teachers.

The survey was made under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which required the education commissioner to conduct a survey and make a report concerning the lack of availability of equal educational opportunities in public educational institutions.

The commissioner released a summary of the report Friday, in advance of a two-year filing deadline Saturday. A complete 400-page report will be issued next month.

The report does not include any recommendations of what policies or programs should be mounted by federal, state or local government agencies to improve educational opportunity in the light of the findings.

Howe told a news briefing on the report, however, "In the months ahead, the U.S. Office of Education will use its own staff and seek the help of advisers to determine how it can use the results of the survey to enhance the educational opportunities for all citizens."

In addition to remarks about students, the report says: "The same pattern of segregation holds, though not quite so strongly, for the teachers of Negro and white students.

"For the nation as a whole, the average Negro elementary pupil attends a school in which 65 per cent of the teachers are Negro; the average white elementary pupils attends a school in which 97 per cent of the teachers are white.

"The racial matching of teachers is most pronounced in the South, where by tradition it has been complete.

"On a nationwide basis, in cases where the races of pupils are not matched, the trend is all in one direction: White teachers teach Negro children but Negro teachers seldom teach white children."

In conclusion, the report's summary says: "In its desegregation decision of 1954, the Supreme Court held that separate schools for Negro and white children are inherently unequal.

"This survey finds that, when measured by that yardstick, American public education remains largely unequal in most regions of the country."

Marionneaux Is Awarded Traineeship

A member of the geography faculty at Northeast Louisiana State College has been awarded a National Science Foundation Graduate Traineeship at the University of Indiana for the 1966-67 school year.

Ronald L. Marionneaux, instructor in geography, will complete course work on his doctoral degree during the period of the traineeship, which includes the fall and spring semesters and the summer session.

The National Science Foundation will pay all of Marionneaux' tuition and fees plus cash for living expenses. The NSF Traineeship will be administered through Indiana's Office of Research and Advanced Studies.

Marionneaux, a member of the Northeast faculty since 1963, previously attended Indiana in the summers of 1964 and 1965.

He received his bachelor's degree from Northeast State and his master's degree from Louisiana State University. He was a member of the Texas A & I College faculty before being employed by Northeast. He is a native of Monroe and a graduate of Neville High School.

3rd Victim Dies

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The third victim died early Friday of injuries suffered from a 200-foot fall in a lift cage at Humble Oil Refinery here a week ago.

C. A. Roland of La Marque, Tex., died at a local hospital after suffering severe head injuries in the construction accident last Friday.

Automobile Accidents On Increase

Automobile accidents in Monroe have increased during the first six months of this year, a comprehensive report comparing traffic accidents in the first half of 1966 with the same period in 1965 released Friday by James C. Kelly, Monroe chief of police, shows.

A total of 1,128 accidents were reported during the period of this year, in comparison to 1,088 in the same time period of 1965.

Injuries decreased by 10 in 1966, while in 1965 there were 339 persons injured in automobile accidents. Five deaths have resulted from accidents so far in 1966, as compared to two deaths in the first six months of 1965.

The report shows that the times that most accidents occur is between 1-3 p.m. and 5-6 p.m. He said that the age group most represented in accidents was from 25 to 34.

Sen. Ellender Expresses Satisfaction

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., has expressed satisfaction at the House Agriculture Committee's approval of his bill to reverse the trend of rural migration to urban areas.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, had introduced his rural development legislation to provide economic planning assistance to rural governments.

The senator said that he had also gained Senate appropriations Subcommittee approval of $2.5 million in funds to get the new development program off the ground in the next fiscal year.

He pointed out that Congress has made increasingly large amounts of aid available to urban communities but had treated rural governments "like poor relations."

He said, "Most of these areas not only in our state but all over the nation are rapidly losing population as their young people are drawn to the jobs and opportunities in the cities."

Ellender has said that he hopes this legislation will reverse this trend.

Report To President

Education Stays Unequal In Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public education is largely unequal in most sections of the country despite the 1954 school desegregation decision of the Supreme Court, the U.S. education commissioner reported Friday.

Commissioner Harold Howe II, in a report to President Johnson and Congress, said the inequality is especially marked where Negroes form any significant proportion of the population.

"The great majority of American children attend schools that are largely segregated," the report said. "Among minority groups, Negroes are by far the most segregated."

The report said almost 80 per cent of all white pupils attend schools that are from 90 to 100 per cent white. And at least 97 per cent attend schools that are 50 per cent or more white.

Direct Loan Will Develop New System

JONESBORO (Special) — A $59,000 direct loan to a group of 55 farm and rural families in Jackson Parish, to develop a rural water system has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration, reported Joe W. Rhodes, the agency's state director.

The loan will enable the Town of Eros to install a distribution system for residents within the corporate limits.

Construction of the project will provide 9,772 man-days of labor for engineers, well drillers, operators of ditch digging equipment, pipe fitters, etc. Some 30 people will be employed in the construction of the water system. The system will be capable of delivering 275,000 gallons a day when completed.

Rhodes said that this facility will provide sanitary water for approximately 275 people, 3 churches, and several business establishments, and will also aid substantially in the expansion and growth of the community.

Previously these people used shallow wells for their water which were not adequate, Rhodes said.

Construction Is Underway On Center

Homer (Special) — Construction has begun on the first phase of a shopping center here that will total 65,000 square feet of floor space, according to P. C. Simpson, owner of the proposed center.

Terral Construction Company of Farmerville is the building contractor. Structural steel is due to arrive next week and general construction will begin Tuesday, Simpson said.

Site of the center is on the Minden highway. Among the stores which will be housed in the first phase are A&P and Ben Franklin, Simposon announced.

Estimated opening date is Oct. 1, and Nov. 1 has been set for grand opening.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Direct Loan Will Develop New System

JONESBORO (Special) — A $59,000 direct loan to a group of 55 farm and rural families in Jackson Parish, to develop a rural water system has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration, reported Joe W. Rhodes, the agency's state director.

The loan will enable the Town of Eros to install a distribution system for residents within the corporate limits.

Construction of the project will provide 9,772 man-days of labor for engineers, well drillers, operators of ditch digging equipment, pipe fitters, etc. Some 30 people will be employed in the construction of the water system. The system will be capable of delivering 275,000 gallons a day when completed.

Rhodes said that this facility will provide sanitary water for approximately 275 people, 3 churches, and several business establishments, and will also aid substantially in the expansion and growth of the community.

Previously these people used shallow wells for their water which were not adequate, Rhodes said.

Construction Is Underway On Center

Homer (Special) — Construction has begun on the first phase of a shopping center here that will total 65,000 square feet of floor space, according to P. C. Simpson, owner of the proposed center.

Terral Construction Company of Farmerville is the building contractor. Structural steel is due to arrive next week and general construction will begin Tuesday, Simpson said.

Site of the center is on the Minden highway. Among the stores which will be housed in the first phase are A&P and Ben Franklin, Simposon announced.

Estimated opening date is Oct. 1, and Nov. 1 has been set for grand opening.

I understand that fire plugs in the City of Monroe are painted red, black, silver, and yellow, according to regulations. There is a plug on Pargoud painted green. This is the only one I have ever seen. What does this mean?

Officials at the Monroe Fire Department say the colors indicate the size of the mains to which the plugs are attached. The color code is as follows: Yellow, water mains 10 inches or larger; silver, eight inches; red, six inches; and black four inches. The green plug, the spokesmen say, was painted by a private property owner, apparently objecting to the yellow which it should be. This has been repainted — back to yellow and then back to green — on several occasions. Incidentally, the firemen said there have been and are instances where property owners, not realizing that it interferes with the work of firemen, have planted flowers and even put up small fences to hide the plugs from view. Firemen request that nothing be put near the plugs.

I would like to know where I could find the old poem beginning "Backward, turn Backward, O Time in your flight; Make me a child again just for tonight." I was told by one person that it was in one of the old McGuffey Readers. What is the name of the poem?

Miss Frances Flanders, Ouachita Parish Public Librarian, said the quotation is from the poem "Rock Me To Sleep" by Elizabeth Akers Allen. It is one of the best loved of the old poems. This and many other quotations can be found in the "Home Book of Quotations" found in the reference section of the parish public library.

Medicare is here, and I would like to know if I can pay my own hospital and doctors' bills and send the receipts (for the bills) to Medicare and be reimbursed?

Information given us is that you can do this. Most physicians are on record as favoring this particular method of payment.

• • •

How will the public know which hospitals are accepting Medicare patients?

The Louisiana Department of Hospitals has a complete list of hospitals which presently accept Medicare patients. In the Twin Cities only the Conway Charity Hospital takes them at present.

My present driver's license expires next month. Being a girl 18, I have no other means of proving my age except by my license. Will the officers at the license bureau allow me to keep my present license for proof.

When you apply for renewal of a license they must take the old license, according to regulations. However, they issue a small identifying card until the new one arrives, usually good for 30 to 60 days. Sorry, but they have their regulations and when you ask the office personnel to allow you to keep the old license, you are, in effect, asking them to violate their regulatations.

The son of one of my friends has been in the U.S. Marine Corps for two years and five months and made sergeant before his 22nd birthday. Is this a record for making that rank so quickly?

The local Marine recruiting station officer, Sgr. Larry Rogers, says no. "Because of the big buildup in manpower, now, it is possible to get promotions much faster today than in the past," Sgt. Rogers said. He explained that now it is possible to make sergeant in the first year. Ordinarily, a Marine can make private first class while in recruit training, lance corporal within six months, corporal within nine months, and sergeant after a year, he said.

• • •

That abbreviation means specialist-4 or specialist-5. In the Army, those ranks are equal to corporal and three-stripe sergeant, respectively, Sgt. S. B. Cook of the local Army Recruiting Office said.

• • •

I heard that an acquaintance of mine has three sons in the U. S. Army and and one in the Marines. Is that some sort of local record?

Local Army and Marine Corps officials said they have no way of checking to see if there has ever been a family with more than four sons in the service at the same time in the Monroe area. Officials said, however, that it is unusual, but probably is not a record.

Has there been any change in the number of Series E. U. S. bonds that may be held, or in the amount that may be held in Series E bonds?

This question, which was answered in this space a week ago, is being repeated, since, though there had been no change when the answer appeared, one has occurred. The face value of Series E bonds that an individual may acquire in any calendar year has been changed from $10,000 to $20,000. The same bulletin, dated June 24, amending Circular 653, also sets a new maximum on Series H bonds that an individual may purchase in one year, moving the amount up from $20,000 to $30,000.

I would like to know where I could find the old poem beginning "Backward, turn Backward, O Time in your flight; Make me a child again just for tonight." I was told by one person that it was in one of the old McGuffey Readers. What is the name of the poem?

Miss Frances Flanders, Ouachita Parish Public Librarian, said the quotation is from the poem "Rock Me To Sleep" by Elizabeth Akers Allen. It is one of the best loved of the old poems. This and many other quotations can be found in the "Home Book of Quotations" found in the reference section of the parish public library.

What is the address of the Barron Knights? They are part of the English popular singers.

You can write to them by this address: The Barron Knights, Columbia Records, c-o EMI Records, 20 Manchester Square, London, W., 1, England.

Medicare is here, and I would like to know if I can pay my own hospital and doctors' bills and send the receipts (for the bills) to Medicare and be reimbursed?

Information given us is that you can do this. Most physicians are on record as favoring this particular method of payment.

• • •

How will the public know which hospitals are accepting Medicare patients?

The Louisiana Department of Hospitals has a complete list of hospitals which presently accept Medicare patients. In the Twin Cities only the Conway Charity Hospital takes them at present.

My present driver's license expires next month. Being a girl 18, I have no other means of proving my age except by my license. Will the officers at the license bureau allow me to keep my present license for proof.

When you apply for renewal of a license they must take the old license, according to regulations. However, they issue a small identifying card until the new one arrives, usually good for 30 to 60 days. Sorry, but they have their regulations and when you ask the office personnel to allow you to keep the old license, you are, in effect, asking them to violate their regulatations.

The son of one of my friends has been in the U.S. Marine Corps for two years and five months and made sergeant before his 22nd birthday. Is this a record for making that rank so quickly?

The local Marine recruiting station officer, Sgr. Larry Rogers, says no. "Because of the big buildup in manpower, now, it is possible to get promotions much faster today than in the past," Sgt. Rogers said. He explained that now it is possible to make sergeant in the first year. Ordinarily, a Marine can make private first class while in recruit training, lance corporal within six months, corporal within nine months, and sergeant after a year, he said.

• • •

That abbreviation means specialist-4 or specialist-5. In the Army, those ranks are equal to corporal and three-stripe sergeant, respectively, Sgt. S. B. Cook of the local Army Recruiting Office said.

• • •

I heard that an acquaintance of mine has three sons in the U. S. Army and and one in the Marines. Is that some sort of local record?

Local Army and Marine Corps officials said they have no way of checking to see if there has ever been a family with more than four sons in the same time in the Monroe area. Officials said, however, that it is unusual, but probably is not a record.

Has there been any change in the number of Series E. U. S. bonds that may be held, or in the amount that may be held in Series E bonds?

This question, which was answered in this space a week ago, is being repeated, since, though there had been no change when the answer appeared, one has occurred. The face value of Series E bonds that an individual may acquire in any calendar year has been changed from $10,000 to $20,000. The same bulletin, dated June 24, amending Circular 653, also sets a new maximum on Series H bonds that an individual may purchase in one year, moving the amount up from $20,000 to $30,000.

Cards Deal Koufax Third Defeat

Shannon Clouts Homer As Cardinals Win, 2-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Shannon clouted a two-run homer off Sandy Koufax in the seventh inning, bringing Al Jackson and the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

Shannon's homer, his fifth of the year, followed a single by Orlando Cepeda and dealt Koufax his third loss against 14 victories. His only other losses this year were 3-1 against Cincinnati and 3-0 against Houston.

Jackson, now 7-6, pitched a six-hitter, in beating the Dodgers for only the second time in 12 lifetime decisions. Only one Dodger advanced as far as second base and that was the result of a first-inning error. Jackson was aided by three doubleplays.

Koufax, 8-0 on the road and 6-3 at home, allowed five hits and struck out 10. It was the eighth time this season and 90th time in his career that he has fanned 10 or more batters in one game.

Chicago Tops Boston With Passed Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Pinch runner Gary Peters raced home on a passed ball by Boston catcher Mike Ryan with two out in the 13th inning, giving the Chicago White Sox a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox Friday night.

John Romano led off the 13th with an infield hit off reliever Lee Stange and Peters ran for him. Don Buford sacrificed and Peters moved to third on a ground out before scoring when Ryan let a pitch get by him.

White Sox reliever Bob Locker retired the last 13 men he faced and picked up the victory, his fifth against four losses.

Darrell Brandon, making his first major-league start after 23 relief appearances for Boston, blanked the White Sox on four hits until the eighth, when pinch hitter Smoky Burgess walked, pinch runner Al Weis stole second and Tommy Agee tied the score 1-1 with a single to left.

The White Sox had blown three previous scoring opportunities against the rookie right-hander, who gave way to John Wyatt after Agee's hit in the eighth.

Buzhardt allowed only two other hits before Burgess hit for him in the eighth.

Giants Down Braves, 9-5

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National League leading San Francisco Giants scored five runs in the eighth inning with the help of two errors by Woody Woodward, a wild pitch and a bases-loaded walk and defeated Atlanta 9-5 Friday night.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing 5-4. But singles by pinch-hitter Don Landrum, Willie McCovey and Jim Davenport loaded the Bases.

Landrum scored on a wild pitch by loser Ted Abernathy, who then struck out Ozzie Virgil for the second out. Len Gabrielson was intentionally walked, loading the bases again.

The Braves had moved ahead in the seventh on singles by Hank Aaron, Rico Carty and Frank Bolling.

The game was halted by fog for 11 minutes in the third inning after two Braves' infielders couldn't find a foul pop off the bat of Mays. The mists thinned out enough to resume play and the fog lifted entirely in the eighth inning.

Cap Peterson's homer in the third after play resumed put the Giants ahead 3-0.

Athletics Take Nightcap For Twinbill Split

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Gosger's pinch two-run single capped a three-run fourth inning and sent the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-4 victory over Detroit in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday.

The Tigers won the opener 8-5 as Gates Brown drove in three runs.

Gosger greeted Detroit reliever Bill Monbouquette, who replaced Mickey Lolich, with a single down the right field line for a 5-3 lead. A double by Danny Cater and Phil Roof's single scored the first run of the inning.

A three-base throwing error by Lolich and Joe Nossek's single gave the A's a run in the third.

The Tigers scored three runs in a weird second inning which saw one run score on Brown's double, another on a passed ball and the third on a balk by winner Jim (Catfish) Hunter.

Brown, pressed into action when Willie Horton had to leave the game because of illness, paced the Tigers' opening game triumph.

He drove in a run on a sacrifice fly in the third and hit a two-run single in a three-run Detroit seventh inning.

Horton singled home two runs in the first inning and the Tigers added two more in the third on singles by Jake Wood, Kaline and Jim Northrup and Brown's fly.

Griffen, Smith Meet For Title In Cramer Haas

Don Griffen and Dr. Rabun Smith are matched in the championship finals of the 18th annual Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament this morning at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

The finalists tee off at 8:30 o'clock this morning for the title settlement, club pro Winnie Cole announced.

Dr. Smith advances over Ned Leigh, Jack Neal, Dr. Frank Rizzo, Walter Dorroh and Dr. Gene Worthen.

Philadelphia's Dick Groat Sure About Halting Lengthy Slump

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Groat is certain he knows how to break his long slump. But since he has only one head he'll just have to keep swinging his bat.

"I'm beating myself mentally — I'm down on myself," said the Philadelphia shortstop. "I feel I ought to unscrew my head and put another one on.

"There's no excuse, no alibi — I'm just not hitting, and it upsets me. When you're 35, a lot of people want to close your career quick on you, and when on top of that you're not hitting, it's got to get you upset."

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch explained Groat's .236 batting average and accompanying mental state a different way.

"He's mad as heck at himself," said Mauch. "He figures he should be knocking in more runs."

That's also what Mauch figured when he acquired the onetime National League batting champion from the St. Louis Cardinals along with first baseman Bill White and catcher Bob Uecker for outfielder Alex Johnson, pitcher Art Mahaffey and catcher Pat Corrales.

But Groat has been unable to produce — and he knows it.

"I'm not a little bit unhappy," snapped Groat in answer to a slight prod on the subject. "I'm very unhappy. I do a little bit more wrong every day. And I know I'd better break out of it, or I'll be on the bench before long.

"I'm fully aware that I'm not going good but there's not really much you can do except go up there and just try and hit the ball. I have done everything else I can think of, take extra batting practice, try to swing easy . . .

"But I'm so anxious to hit that I've gotten myself all upset. I have to try and relax."

Groat, however, doesn't think his anxiousness stems from wanting to prove to the Cardinals they let him go while he still had several good years remaining.

"No, I don't think it's that," said Groat. "I'm not concerned about that. Oh, I've been thinking about being 35 because of what everyone says. But it has nothing to do with the trade because physically I feel good.

"All I've heard all my career is that your legs go first. When you feel that, then you know you're getting to the end. But my legs feel fine.

"It's up here . . ."

Draft Official Upset By Delay In Clay's Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The chairman of Cassius Clay's draft board said Friday he's upset by the delay in determining the heavyweight champion's military status.

Clay's request that he be reclassified as a conscientious objector has been under investigation by the Justice Department since May.

"I am very upset," commented J. Allen Sherman. "I don't understand the delay and I certainly don't like it."

He said if the Justice Department is looking into Clay's religious affiliation with the Black Muslims, there should be a file readily available

"It certainly looks like they would have a file on the organization and it looks like they would have a rundown on Clay."

Clay was reclassified 1-A, months ago after the army lowered its standards. The champion previously had failed to pass portions of the examination.

Bonus Babe

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Rick Monday, the No. 1 bonus pick of 1965 who cost the Kansas City Athletics a reported $104,000, doesn't do things half way.

The fleet center fielder of the Mobile A's of the Southern League struck out the first three times at bat Thursday night against Charlotte. Then he hit two home runs that helped Mobile win 7-3.

Fabien Mang Signs Pact With Braves

The contract reportedly was in the $50,000 range, plus an $8,000 college scholarship.

Ten days ago Mang had designed to attend loyola of New Orleans on a grant-in-aid scholarship to play baseball and basketball.

"He thought of playing professional baseball and the guarantee of a full four-year college scholarship was too much ot turn down," Mang said.

Mang, a graduate of Jesuit High School, still plans to enroll at Loyola in September.

Mang will leave for Austin Tex., next week to attend an eight-day Braves' clinic. Afterwards he will join West Palm Beach of the Class A Florida State League.

Lewis Optioned To Jacksonville

Lewis, who was obtained from St. Louis in December, 1964, batted .209 with five homers and 19 RBI this season.

Double In 12th Nets Astro Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Lillis' two-out double in the 12th inning, drove in Bob Aspromonte with the winning run as Houston edged Cincinnati 2-1 Friday night.

Lillis' double came after Aspromonte singled and brought the victory to reliever Claude Raymond. Billy McCool took the loss.

The Reds shut out on one hit through seven innings by Mike Cuellar, pushed across the tying run in the eighth inning when Leo Cardenas doubled with two out and pinch hitter Jim Coker followed with a single.

Cuellar, unbeaten and looking for his seventh victory, kept the Reds hitless after that until he left for a pinch hitter in the 11th inning. He retired the first 14 men he faced before Don Pavletich singled with two out in the fifth.

Host Pro, Team Wins Golf Play

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Host pro Robert Blewett and a team of amateurs teamed up to win the North Louisiana Professional Golfers' Organization's pro-am at the Meadow Lake Country Club Friday.

Blewett, also the sweepstakes winner with a course record-tying 65, was joined by Frank Ray of Minden, Dan Cox of Monroe and John Howard of Shreveport. They had a total of 192 points.

The group's next pro-am will be held July 11 at the Pine Hills Country Club in Minden.

Mulhern Medalist At Five Under Par

BASTROP (Special) — Louisiana Tech golfer Ray Mulhearn of West Monroe pulled a fine finish here Friday to end with a 67 and medalist honors in the 32nd Annual Kraft Invitational Golf Tournament.

Mulhearn carried a two-under card to the 16th tee and slapped in an eagle on the par five hole. He finished out with a birdie and par to wind up five under for the day.

First rounds in the 14 flights begin today over the Morehouse County Club layout.

The championship flight cutoff was 77.

The top four flights of the tournament will play 18 hole matches while the lower flights play matches of nine holes. The foremat allows the lower flights to complete play before Independence Day, the day the title flight and first through third flights play two matches.

Shannon Clouts Homer As Cardinals Win, 2-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Shannon clouted a two-run homer off Sandy Koufax in the seventh inning, bringing Al Jackson and the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

Shannon's homer, his fifth of the year, followed a single by Orlando Cepeda and dealt Koufax his third loss against 14 victories. His only other losses this year were 3-1 against Cincinnati and 3-0 against Houston.

Jackson, now 7-6, pitched a six-hitter, in beating the Dodgers for only the second time in 12 lifetime decisions. Only one Dodger advanced as far as second base and that was the result of a first-inning error. Jackson was aided by three doubleplays.

Koufax, 8-0 on the road and 6-3 at home, allowed five hits and struck out 10. It was the eighth time this season and 90th time in his career that he has fanned 10 or more batters in one game.

Chicago Tops Boston With Passed Ball

CHICAGO (AP) — Pinch runner Gary Peters raced home on a passed ball by Boston catcher Mike Ryan with two out in the 13th inning, giving the Chicago White Sox a 2-1 victory over the Red Sox Friday night.

John Romano led off the 13th with an infield hit off reliever Lee Stange and Peters ran for him. Don Buford sacrificed and Peters moved to third on a ground out before scoring when Ryan let a pitch get by him.

White Sox reliever Bob Locker retired the last 13 men he faced and picked up the victory, his fifth against four losses.

Darrell Brandon, making his first major-league start after 23 relief appearances for Boston, blanked the White Sox on four hits until the eighth, when pinch hitter Smoky Burgess walked, pinch runner Al Weis stole second and Tommy Agee tied the score 1-1 with a single to left.

The White Sox had blown three previous scoring opportunities against the rookie right-hander, who gave way to John Wyatt after Agee's hit in the eighth.

Buzhardt allowed only two other hits before Burgess hit for him in the eighth.

Athletics Take Nightcap For Twinbill Split

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Gosger's pinch two-run single capped a three-run fourth inning and sent the Kansas City Athletics to a 6-4 victory over Detroit in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader Friday.

The Tigers won the opener 8-5 as Gates Brown drove in three runs.

Gosger greeted Detroit reliever Bill Monbouquette, who replaced Mickey Lolich, with a single down the right field line for a 5-3 lead. A double by Danny Cater and Phil Roof's single scored the first run of the inning.

A three-base throwing error by Lolich and Joe Nossek's single gave the A's a run in the third.

The Tigers scored three runs in a weird second inning which saw one run score on Brown's double, another on a passed ball and the third on a balk by winner Jim (Catfish) Hunter.

Brown, pressed into action when Willie Horton had to leave the game because of illness, paced the Tigers' opening game triumph.

He drove in a run on a sacrifice fly in the third and hit a two-run single in a three-run Detroit seventh inning.

Horton singled home two runs in the first inning and the Tigers added two more in the third on singles by Jake Wood, Kaline and Jim Northrup and Brown's fly.

Giants Down Braves, 9-5

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National League leading San Francisco Giants scored five runs in the eighth inning with the help of two errors by Woody Woodward, a wild pitch and a bases-loaded walk and defeated Atlanta 9-5 Friday night.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing 5-4. But singles by pinch-hitter Don Landrum, Willie McCovey and Jim Davenport loaded the Bases.

Landrum scored on a wild pitch by loser Ted Abernathy, who then struck out Ozzie Virgil for the second out. Len Gabrielson was intentionally walked, loading the bases again.

The Braves had moved ahead in the seventh on singles by Hank Aaron, Rico Carty and Frank Bolling.

The game was halted by fog for 11 minutes in the third inning after two Braves' infielders couldn't find a foul pop off the bat of Mays. The mists thinned out enough to resume play and the fog lifted entirely in the eighth inning.

Cap Peterson's homer in the third after play resumed put the Giants ahead 3-0.

Griffen, Smith Meet For Title In Cramer Haas

Don Griffen and Dr. Rabun Smith are matched in the championship finals of the 18th annual Cramer Haas Memorial Handicap Golf Tournament this morning at Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

The finalists tee off at 8:30 o'clock this morning for the title settlement, club pro Winnie Cole announced.

Dr. Smith advances over Ned Leigh, Jack Neal, Dr. Frank Rizzo, Walter Dorroh and Dr. Gene Worthen.

Philadelphia's Dick Groat Sure About Halting Lengthy Slump

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Groat is certain he knows how to break his long slump. But since he has only one head he'll just have to keep swinging his bat.

"I'm beating myself mentally — I'm down on myself," said the Philadelphia shortstop. "I feel I ought to unscrew my head and put another one on.

"There's no excuse, no alibi — I'm just not hitting, and it upsets me. When you're 35, a lot of people want to close your career quick on you, and when on top of that you're not hitting, it's got to get you upset."

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch explained Groat's .236 batting average and accompanying mental state a different way.

"He's mad as heck at himself," said Mauch. "He figures he should be knocking in more runs."

That's also what Mauch figured when he acquired the onetime National League batting champion from the St. Louis Cardinals along with first baseman Bill White and catcher Bob Uecker for outfielder Alex Johnson, pitcher Art Mahaffey and catcher Pat Corrales.

But Groat has been unable to produce — and he knows it.

"I'm not a little bit unhappy," snapped Groat in answer to a slight prod on the subject. "I'm very unhappy. I do a little bit more wrong every day. And I know I'd better break out of it, or I'll be on the bench before long.

"I'm fully aware that I'm not going good but there's not really much you can do except go up there and just try and hit the ball. I have done everything else I can think of, take extra batting practice, try to swing easy . . .

"But I'm so anxious to hit that I've gotten myself all upset. I have to try and relax."

Groat, however, doesn't think his anxiousness stems from wanting to prove to the Cardinals they let him go while he still had several good years remaining.

"No, I don't think it's that," said Groat. "I'm not concerned about that. Oh, I've been thinking about being 35 because of what everyone says. But it has nothing to do with the trade because physically I feel good.

"All I've heard all my career is that your legs go first. When you feel that, then you know you're getting to the end. But my legs feel fine.

"It's up here . . ."

Draft Official Upset By Delay In Clay's Case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The chairman of Cassius Clay's draft board said Friday he's upset by the delay in determining the heavyweight champion's military status.

Clay's request that he be reclassified as a conscientious objector has been under investigation by the Justice Department since May.

"I am very upset," commented J. Allen Sherman. "I don't understand the delay and I certainly don't like it."

He said if the Justice Department is looking into Clay's religious affiliation with the Black Muslims, there should be a file readily available.

"It certainly looks like they would have a file on the organization and it looks like they would have a rundown on Clay."

Clay was reclassified 1-A, months ago after the army lowered its standards. The champion previously had failed to pass portions of the examination.

Bonus Babe

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Rick Monday, the No. 1 bonus pick of 1965 who cost the Kansas City Athletics a reported $104,000, doesn't do things half way.

The fleet center fielder of the Mobile A's of the Southern League struck out the first three times at bat Thursday night against Charlotte. Then he hit two home runs that helped Mobile win 7-3.

Fabien Mang Signs Pact With Braves

The contract reportedly was in the $50,000 range, plus an $8,000 college scholarship.

Ten days ago Mang had designed to attend loyola of New Orleans on a grant-in-aid scholarship to play baseball and basketball.

"He thought of playing professional baseball and the guarantee of a full four-year college scholarship was too much ot turn down," Mang said.

Mang, a graduate of Jesuit High School, still plans to enroll at Loyola in September.

Mang will leave for Austin Tex., next week to attend an eight-day Braves' clinic. Afterwards he will join West Palm Beach of the Class A Florida State League.

Lewis Optioned To Jacksonville

Lewis, who was obtained from St. Louis in December, 1964, batted .209 with five homers and 19 RBI this season.

Double In 12th Nets Astro Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Lillis' two-out double in the 12th inning, drove in Bob Aspromonte with the winning run as Houston edged Cincinnati 2-1 Friday night.

Lillis' double came after Aspromonte singled and brought the victory to reliever Claude Raymond. Billy McCool took the loss.

The Reds shut out on one hit through seven innings by Mike Cuellar, pushed across the tying run in the eighth inning when Leo Cardenas doubled with two out and pinch hitter Jim Coker followed with a single.

Cuellar, unbeaten and looking for his seventh victory, kept the Reds hitless after that until he left for a pinch hitter in the 11th inning. He retired the first 14 men he faced before Don Pavletich singled with two out in the fifth.

Saulters Hurls No-Hitter But Loses Contest

Ruston scored one run in the second and third inning then coasted to the win behind Gary Crawford who is now 6-0 in legion play.

Randell Pepper and Ronnie Volentine had the only hits for Homer. Homer is now 4-6 in loop play.

Mulhern Medalist At Five Under Par

BASTROP (Special) — Louisiana Tech golfer Ray Mulhearn of West Monroe pulled a fine finish here Friday to end with a 67 and medalist honors in the 32nd Annual Kraft Invitational Golf Tournament.

Mulhearn carried a two-under card to the 16th tee and slapped in an eagle on the par five hole. He finished out with a birdie and par to wind up five under for the day.

First rounds in the 14 flights begin today over the Morehouse County Club layout.

The championship flight cutoff was 77.

The top four flights of the tournament will play 18 hole matches while the lower flights play matches of nine holes. The foremat allows the lower flights to complete play before Independence Day, the day the title flight and first through third flights play two matches.

Prothro Says West Can't Lose Contest

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —Tommy Prothro of UCLA, coach of the West squad in the coaches All-America game, predicted Friday that his team couldn't lose in the All-Star football game July 9.

Bolstered by the early arrival of All-America halfbacks Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Mike Garrett of Southern California, Prothro said "We have the best personnel I've ever seen.

"I don't see how the West can lose," added Prothro, while his All-Star rival, East Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, just grinned.

"We've already found out how easy it is to win games on the black board," said Daugherty, whose Spartans were beaten by UCLA in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1. "We will try to give the people of Atlanta a good show."

Prothro's All-Star coaching assistants, Bob Devaney of Nebraska and Frank Broyles of Arkansas, and Daugherty's aides, Doug Dickey of Tennessee and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State, also were on hand as players began checking in.

First workouts for the 30-man squads are scheduled today, with daily drills planned through next Friday for the nationally televised game.

"We have some great players on the west," Prothro said. "Francis Peay of Missouri is the best offensive lineman I've ever seen, and I'm awfully glad Tommy Nobis of Texas and Carl McAdams of Oklahoma are our linebackers, and not the East's. Johnny Roland of Missouri is one of the best defensive backs I've watched."

All were All-America selections in 1965, along with end Aaron Brown of Minnesota, tackle Glen Ray Hines of Arkansas and guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska, other West standouts.

"We've got two good quarterbacks in Randy Johnson of Texas A&I and Gary Lane of Missouri," Prothro said. "Johnson is a good passer, and Lane can pass and run, too."

Prothrow said he expected the West to rely heavily on passing because of a lack of time to prepare his 30-man squad for a running attack.

Daugherty said the East will do plenty of running.

"We will have a balanced offense with both running and passing," Daugherty said. "These boys have all played a lot of football and are intelligent. I think you will be amazed at how many plays we can perfect during our workouts."

The East squad will be quarterbacked by Steve Sloan of Alabama, with fullback Jim Grabowski, All-America from Illinois, the big backfield threat and All-America end Charlie Casey of Florida the top receiver.

The East's line will be led by All-America choices Dick Arrington of Notre Dame, Karl Singer of Purdue and Paul Crane of Alabama, with linebacker Frank Emanuel, Tennessee's All-America representative, leading the defense, along with All-America defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame.

Mickey Wright Falls To Knot For U.S. Women's Play Lead

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Four-time champion Mickey Wright, collapsing with five three-putt greens, and steady shooting Sandra Spuzich, a lesser known pro from Indianapolis, tied for the 36-hole lead with five-over-par 149s in the United States Women's Open Golf Tournament Friday.

Although scores perked on Hazeltine National Golf Club's tricky par 72 course, there was a general howl over the hard-spike-marked greens.

Almost fourhours after Miss Spuzich, 29, added a two-over-par 74 to her opening 75, Miss Wright struggled home with 78 following her opening 71 and still the tourney's only subpar round.

Deadlocked at 151 were defending champion Carol Mann, two strokes behind Miss Wright after the first round, and Clifford Ann Creed.

Miss Mills and Marilynn Smith, who opened with a horrible 85, both scored one-over-par 73s for the day's best rounds.

Hazeltine's grainy greens were described by the disconsolate Miss Wright as "real heavy bladed grass on which spike marks made the ball wobble."

"I don't believe I've ever played a round like this," said Mickey. "I'd hit the ball well right up to the greens and then, kerplunk, strange things happened."

Compared with Miss Wright's 38 putts, Miss Spuzich used 34, three-putting two greens for two of her four bogeys against two birdies. Miss Spuzich hit 15 greens and Miss Wright reached 14 in regulation, underscoring the difficulty most top players encountered in putting.

Miss Wright was only one over par until the 13th on which she had a triple-bogey, not only caroming a five-iron shot into the water but also three-putting for a 6 on the short 150-yard hole.

Mickey bounced back with a birdie on the 495-yard 15th, reaching the green in two and two-putting from 15 feet. Real trouble then hit Miss Wright on the last two holes. She three-putted from 10 feet for a double bogey 6 on the 17th and three-putted from 18 feet for a bogey 5 on the 18th.

Miss Spuzich, whose best previous finish in three Opens was 15th in 1963, was one under par through 10 holes, but three-putted the 11th and 12th. She got a third bogey, hitting a trap on the 16th.

The original field of 52 pros and 47 amateurs was trimmed to 44 — including 34 pros and 10 amateurs — with the final two rounds of the chase for the $4,000 top prize for pros.

Failing to survive the cutoff at 162 were two of the seven contending former champions, four-time winner Betsy Rawls and Mrs. Murle Lindstrom, who won in 1962.

McDowell Puts Tribe By Angels

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sam McDowell, making his first start in two weeks, pitched a two-hitter and struck out 13 for his first complete game victory since May 1 as the Cleveland Indians blanked California 5-0 Friday night.

McDowell, who has been plagued by arm trouble, allowed two scattered singles and walked just one while bringing his season record to 6-2. It was his first victory since June 11.

Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with a single and his 15th homer, a two-run shot in the sixth off loser Dean Chance, to pace the Cleveland attack.

Colavito's first-inning single scored Jim Landis, who had reached base on an error, and Leon Wagner, who had walked.

Chance gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked but absorbed his ninth defeat in 15 decisions.

Jose Cardenal, the first batter McDowell faced, singled on a 3-2 pitch. The only other Angel hit was a lead-off single by Rick Reichardt in the fifth, also on a 3-2 pitch.

The 13 strikeouts boosted McDowell's season total to 108 and tied him with teammate Gary Bell for the one-game high in the American League this year.

Sonny Liston In Comeback Try Victory

Liston, of Denver, Colo., weighed 221, Zech 226.

The fight was scheduled as a 10-rounder.

It was Liston's first fight since his controversial one minute knockout by Clay in their return world title bout in May, 1965, at Lewiston, Maine.

Zech backed away, covering up most of the time, although he did lash out with counter punches in the second round.

Liston, cheered on by the near sellout attendance, held a clear lead on points before finally putting the German down for the count.

Santana Grabs Wimbledon Crown

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Manuel Santana, the pride of Spain, out-maneuvered Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-4, 11-9, 6-4 in a classic final Friday and brought the Wimbledon tennis title back to Europe after 12 years.

The grinning 28-year-old Spaniard won the crown — the world's most coveted tennis prize — with a blend of power and subtlety that made him a popular hero with the 15,000 fans. Yet for most of the match Ralston, 23, matched him shot for shot.

As the drama rose to its climax in the close and torrid atmosphere of Wimbledon's center court, Ralston's nerve failed him and he fell into double faults and volleying errors.

Santana kept going steadily with spin and drop, stop-volley and smash, and finally won in three straight sets, Yet each set was taut and finely balanced.

At the end Santana was given the most emotional reception any Wimbledon champion has received since Czech-born Jaroslav Drobny, who was the last European to win the title back in 1954.

He stepped forward, laughing with happiness, to accept the big silver trophy from Princess Marina, aunt of Queen Elizabeth, and the entire crowd stood and cheered.

Saturday's major attraction on the center court will be the bid of Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., to defeat Maria Bueno of Brazil for the women's singles title.

Santana proved during the two weeks tournament that delicate artistry can still hold the whip hand over modern power play. Also, he endeared himself to the fans by his personality and sense of humor.

But Ralston however, was a worthy opponent.

For 20 minutes, he and Santana could make no impression on each other's service. Each of them dropped only three points in their first three service games.

A beautifully played lob from Ralston, which had Santana scrambling back in vain at his baseline, almost drew for blood in the eighth game. That shot took the American to 40-15 on Santana's service. But the Spaniard came back and won with an ace — one moment when his racket, so often a rapier was used as a bludgeon.

One game later the scales began to tip for the first time. Ralston doublefaulted and trailed 15-30. Santana seized his chance, took the next point with a forehand pass and then completed the first break-through with a forehand that left Ralston groping in mid-court.

The match reached the heights in the second set, which see-sawed dramatically and lasted 53 minutes.

Ralston, after losing only one point in his first two service games, broke through to lead 3-1.

A forehand that touched the net and jumped over Santana's shoulder took the score to deuce. Ralston next hit a superb backhand pass, and followed that with a powerful forehand which Santana volleyed into the net.

Three games later a magnificent lob from Santana caught Ralston by surprise as he moved forward — and the Spaniard had broken back.

In the eighth game, Santana hurt his back chasing a lob behind his baseline. For a while afterwards he rubbed it as if in pain, and twice he had to struggle to hold his service.

Billy Short Gets First Major League Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Left-hander Billy Short, making his first major league appearance in four years, pitched a six-hitter as the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles edged Minnesota 2-0 Friday night a completed a doubleheader sweep.

The Orioles rode home runs by Frank Robinson and Sam Bowens to a 4-1 opening game victory, then came back and scored both their nightcap runs on a single by Brooks Robinson and a double by Bowens.

Called up from Rochester of the International League earlier in the week, Short last pitched in the majors with Baltimore in 1962 and last won a game in the majors when he pitched for the New York Yankees in 1960.

The southpaw did not allow a hit until the fourth inning. He struck out five and allowed only one walk. He got into his only jam in the sixth when opposing pitcher Jim Merritt led off with a double and advanced to third on a grounder.

Merritt, however, was caught at the plate trying to score on Rich Rollins' grounder and the Rollins was cut down trying to go to third on a single by Tony Oliva.

Baltimore picked up its two runs in the first on singles by Luis Aparicio and Brooks Robinson and a double by Bowens coupled with an error by Rich Rollins.

But Minnesota pitcher Jim Merritt retired the next 19 batters before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

In the first game, the Twins took an early 1-0 lead in the first on a double by Oliva and a single by Harmon Killebrew. The Orioles tied it in the second on three singles and Frank Robinson added another tally in the third with his 19th home run.

Bowens hit his fourth home run in the sixth and the Orioles added a final run in the ninth on doubles by Bowens and Paul Blair.

Steve Barber, who gave up eight hits in 5 1-3 innings, was credited with the victory in the first game, his ninth against two defeats. He was lifted in the sixth when he complained of a slight muscle pull in his left elbow.

Fryman Gets Mound Win For Pirates

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Woody Fryman allowed only one hit — a leadoff single by Ron Hunt in the first inning — and faced the minimum 27 batters in pitching the red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates to a 12-0 triumph over the New York Mets Friday night.

Fryman, a 23-year-old southpaw, retired every man he faced after Hunt hit a bouncer up the middle that barely eluded shortstop Gene Alley. Hunt was thrown out stealing and the last 26 Met hitters went out in order as the Pirates breezed to their sixth straight victory.

Fryman, bringing his season record to 6-3, struck out eight.

Jose Pagan and Bill Mazeroski each drilled a two-run homer and combined to drive in seven runs in an 18-hit assault that included homers by Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon. Pagan also had a two-run double and Mazeroski a run-scoring single.

Mazeroski gave Fryman all the support he needed with a bases-loaded single off loser Jack Fisher in the second inning. Pagan hit his third homer of the year in the third and Mazeroski clubbed his fifth to cap a six-run uprising in the seventh.

Mantle's Bat Speaks Again For Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mickey Mantle's fifth home run in his last four games and Joe Pepitone's 15th of the season keyed an early extra base hit barrage as the New York Yankees outslugged the Washington Senators 8-6 Friday night.

The Senators, who trailed 8-2 after 3½ innings, chased Fred Talbot in the sixth on singles by Don Lock and Ken McMullen and Paul Casanova's homer.

Steve Hamilton checked the Senators for one inning and Pete Ramos, called on in the seventh with the bases loaded and one out, worked out of the jam and protected Talbot's third victory as a Yankee.

The Yankees collected six hits off Phil Ortega in the first three innings, five for extra bases.

Mantle hit his 12th homer of the year in the first and the Yankees scored two in the second on Elston Howard's double, Hector Lopez' triple and Dick Schofield's sacrifice fly.

They added two in the third on Mantle's single and Pepitone's homer, but wasted Tom Tresh's triple. Schofield's double, a walk, Ed Brinkman's error and another single by Mantle accounted for three runs in the fourth.

White's Big Bat Powers Phillies To 7-0 Victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Bill White homered into the left field stands, singled in a run and scored two others, leading Philadelphia to a 7-0 victory over Chicago Friday night behind the pitching of Larry Jackson.

The victory was the Phillies' fourth straight.

Jackson, an ex-Cub now 5-7, allowed eight hits but was in trouble only in the first inning when he gave up consecutive singles to Lee Thomas and Billy Williams with one out. He got out of the jam by srtiking out John Boccabella and Randy Hundley.

The Phils jumped on loser Bill Faul for two runs in the second inning, then drove him out with three more in the fourth.

Besides White's fifth inning homer, No. 14 this year, the Phillies collected two triples, two doubles and seven singles against four Chicago pitchers.

Prothro Says West Can't Lose Contest

Bolstered by the early arrival of All-America halfbacks Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Mike Garrett of Southern California, Prothro said "We have the best personnel I've ever seen.

"We've already found out how easy it is to win games on the black board," said Daugherty, whose Spartans were beaten by UCLA in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1. "We will try to give the people of Atlanta a good show."

Prothro's All-Star coaching assistants, Bob Devaney of Nebraska and Frank Broyles of Arkansas, and Daugherty's aides, Doug Dickey of Tennessee and Earle Edwards of North Carolina State, also were on hand as players began checking in.

"We have some great players on the west," Prothro said. "Francis Peay of Missouri is the best offensive lineman I've ever seen, and I'm awfully glad Tommy Nobis of Texas and Carl McAdams of Oklahoma are our linebackers, and not the East's. Johnny Roland of Missouri is one of the best defensive backs I've watched."

All were All-America selections in 1965, along with end Aaron Brown of Minnesota, tackle Glen Ray Hines of Arkansas and guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska, other West standouts.

"We've got two good quarterbacks in Randy Johnson of Texas A&I and Gary Lane of Missouri," Prothro said. "Johnson is a good passer, and Lane can pass and run, too."

Prothrow said he expected the West to rely heavily on passing because of a lack of time to prepare his 30-man squad for a running attack.

Daugherty said the East will do plenty of running.

"We will have a balanced offense with both running and passing," Daugherty said. "These boys have all played a lot of football and are intelligent. I think you will be amazed at how many plays we can perfect during our workouts."

The East squad will be quarterbacked by Steve Sloan of Alabama, with fullback Jim Grabowski, All-America from Illinois, the big backfield threa and All-America end Charlie Casey of Florida the top receiver.

The East's line will be led by All-America choices Dick Arrington of Notre Dame, Karl Singer of Purdue and Paul Crane of Alabama, with linebacker Frank Emanuel, Tennessee's All-America representative, leading the defense, along with All-America defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame.

Mickey Wright Falls To Knot For U.S. Women's Play Lead

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Four-time champion Mickey Wright, collapsing with five three-putt greens, and steady shooting Sandra Spuzich, a lesser known pro from Indianapolis, tied for the 36-hole lead with five-over-par 149s in the United States Women's Open Golf Tournament Friday.

Although scores perked on Hazeltine National Golf Club's tricky par 72 course, there was a general howl over the hard-spike-marked greens.

Almost fourhours after Miss Spuzich, 29, added a two-over-par 74 to her opening 75, Miss Wright struggled home with 78 following her opening 71 and still the tourney's only subpar round.

Deadlocked at 151 were defending champion Carol Mann, two strokes behind Miss Wright after the first round, and Clifford Ann Creed.

Miss Mills and Marilynn Smith, who opened with a horrible 85, both scored one-over-par 73s for the day's best rounds.

Hazeltine's grainy greens were described by the disconsolate Miss Wright as "real heavy bladed grass on which spike marks made the ball wobble."

"I don't believe I've ever played a round like this," said Mickey. "I'd hit the ball well right up to the greens and then, kerplunk, strange things happened."

Compared with Miss Wright's 38 putts, Miss Spuzich used 34, three-putting two greens for two of her four bogeys against two birdies. Miss Spuzich hit 15 greens and Miss Wright reached 14 in regulation, underscoring the difficulty most top players encountered in putting.

Miss Wright was only one over par until the 13th on which she had a triple-bogey, not only caroming a five-iron shot into the water but also three-putting for a 6 on the short 150-yard hole.

Mickey bounced back with a birdie on the 495-yard 15th, reaching the green in two and two-putting from 15 feet. Real trouble then hit Miss Wright on the last two holes. She three-putted from 10 feet for a double bogey 6 on the 17th and three-putted from 18 feet for a bogey 5 on the 18th.

Miss Spuzich, whose best previous finish in three Opens was 15th in 1963, was one under par through 10 holes, but three-putted the 11th and 12th. She got a third bogey, hitting a trap on the 16th.

The original field of 52 pros and 47 amateurs was trimmed to 44 — including 34 pros and 10 amateurs — with the final two rounds of the chase for the $4,000 top prize for pros.

Failing to survive the cutoff at 162 were two of the seven contending former champions, four-time winner Betsy Rawls and Mrs. Murle Lindstrom, who won in 1962.

McDowell Puts Tribe By Angels

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sam McDowell, making his first start in two weeks, pitched a two-hitter and struck out 13 for his first complete game victory since May 1 as the Cleveland Indians blanked California 5-0 Friday night.

McDowell, who has been plagued by arm trouble, allowed two scattered singles and walked just one while bringing his season record to 6-2. It was his first victory since June 11.

Rocky Colavito drove in four runs with a single and his 15th homer, a two-run shot in the sixth off loser Dean Chance, to pace the Cleveland attack.

Colavito's first-inning single scored Jim Landis, who had reached base on an error, and Leon Wagner, who had walked.

Chance gave up only four hits in the seven innings he worked but absorbed his ninth defeat in 15 decisions.

Jose Cardenal, the first batter McDowell faced, singled on a 3-2 pitch. The only other Angel hit was a lead-off single by Rick Reichardt in the fifth, also on a 3-2 pitch.

The 13 strikeouts boosted McDowell's season total to 108 and ted him with teammate Gary Bell for the one-game high in the American League this year.

Sonny Liston In Comeback Try Victory

Liston, of Denver, Colo., weighed 221, Zech 226.

The fight was scheduled as a 10-rounder.

It was Liston's first fight since his controversial one minute knockout by Clay in their return world title bout in May, 1965, at Lewiston, Maine.

Zech backed away, covering up most of the time, although he did lash out with counter punches in the second round.

Liston, cheered on by the near sellout attendance, held a clear lead on points before finally putting the German down for the count.

Liston was unmarked at the end.

Santana Grabs Wimbledon Crown

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Manuel Santana, the pride of Spain, out-maneuvered Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-4, 11-9, 6-4 in a classic final Friday and brought the Wimbledon tennis title back to Europe after 12 years.

The grinning 28-year-old Spaniard won the crown — the world's most coveted tennis prize — with a blend of power and subtlety that made him a popular hero with the 15,000 fans. Yet for most of the match Ralston, 23, matched him shot for shot.

As the drama rose to its climax in the close and torrid atmosphere of Wimbledon's center court, Ralston's nerve failed him and he fell into double faults and volleying errors.

Santana kept going steadily with spin and drop, stop-volley and smash, and finally won in three straight sets, Yet each set was taut and finely balanced.

At the end Santana was given the most emotional reception any Wimbledon champion has received since Czech-born Jaroslav Drobny, who was the last European to win the title back in 1954.

He stepped forward, laughing with happiness, to accept the big silver trophy from Princess Marina, aunt of Queen Elizabeth, and the entire crowd stood and cheered.

Saturday's major attraction on the center court will be the bid of Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., to defeat Maria Bueno of Brazil for the women's singles title.

Santana proved during the two weeks tournament that delicate artistry can still hold the whip hand over modern power play. Also, he endeared himself to the fans by his personality and sense of humor.

But Ralston however, was a worthy opponent.

For 20 minutes, he and Santana could make no impression on each other's service. Each of them dropped only three points in their first three service games.

A beautifully played lob from Ralston, which had Santana scrambling back in vain at his baseline, almost drew for blood in the eighth game. That shot took the American to 40-15 on Santana's service. But the Spaniard came back and won with an ace — one moment when his racket, so often a rapier was used as a bludgeon.

One game later the scales began to tip for the first time. Ralston doublefaulted and trailed 15-30. Santana seized his chance, took the next point with a forehand pass and then completed the first break-through with a forehand that left Ralston groping in mid-court.

The match reached the heights in the second set, which see-sawed dramatically and lasted 53 minutes.

Ralston, after losing only one point in his first two service games, broke through to lead 3-1.

A forehand that touched the net and jumped over Santana's shoulder took the score to deuce. Ralston next hit a superb backhand pass, and followed that with a powerful forehand which Santana volleyed into the net.

Three games later a magnificent lob from Santana caught Ralston by surprise as he moved forward — and the Spaniard had broken back.

In the eighth game, Santana hurt his back chasing a lob behind his baseline. For a while afterwards he rubbed it as if in pain, and twice he had to struggle to hold his service.

Billy Short Gets First Major League Victory

BALTIMORE (AP) — Left-hander Billy Short, making his first major league appearance in four years, pitched a six-hitter as the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles edged Minnesota 2-0 Friday night a completed a doubleheader sweep.

The Orioles rode home runs by Frank Robinson and Sam Bowens to a 4-1 opening game victory, then came back and scored both their nightcap runs on a single by Brooks Robinson and a double by Bowens.

Called up from Rochester of the International League earlier in the week, Short last pitched in the majors with Baltimore in 1962 and last won a game in the majors when he pitched for the New York Yankees in 1960.

The southpaw did not allow a hit until the fourth inning. He struck out five and allowed only one walk. He got into his only jam in the sixth when opposing pitcher Jim Merritt led off with a double and advanced to third on a grounder.

Merritt, however, was caught at the plate trying to score on Rich Rollins' grounder and the Rollins was cut down trying to go to third on a single by Tony Oliva.

Baltimore picked up its two runs in the first on singles by Luis Aparicio and Brooks Robinson and a double by Bowens coupled with an error by Rich Rollins.

But Minnesota pitcher Jim Merritt retired the next 19 batters before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

In the first game, the Twins took an early 1-0 lead in the first on a double by Oliva and a single by Harmon Killebrew. The Orioles tied it in the second on three singles and Frank Robinson added another tally in the third with his 19th home run.

Bowens hit his fourth home run in the sixth and the Orioles added a final run in the ninth on doubles by Bowens and Paul Blair.

Steve Barber, who gave up eight hits in 5 1-3 innings, was credited with the victory in the first game, his ninth against two defeats. He was lifted in the sixth when he complained of a slight muscle pull in his left elbow.

Fryman Gets Mound Win For Pirates

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Woody Fryman allowed only one hit — a leadoff single by Ron Hunt in the first inning — and faced the minimum 27 batters in pitching the red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates to a 12-0 triumph over the New York Mets Friday night.

Fryman, a 23-year-old southpaw, retired every man he faced after Hunt hit a bouncer up the middle that barely eluded shortstop Gene Alley. Hunt was thrown out stealing and the last 26 Met hitters went out in order as the Pirates breezed to their sixth straight victory.

Fryman, bringing his season record to 6-3, struck out eight.

Jose Pagan and Bill Mazeroski each drilled a two-run homer and combined to drive in seven runs in an 18-hit assault that included homers by Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon. Pagan also had a two-run double and Mazeroski a run-scoring single.

Mazeroski gave Fryman all the support he needed with a bases-loaded single off loser Jack Fisher in the second inning. Pagan hit his third homer of the year in the third and Mazeroski clubbed his fifth to cap a six-run uprising in the seventh.

Mantle's Bat Speaks Again For Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mickey Mantle's fifth home run in his last four games and Joe Pepitone's 15th of the season keyed an early extra base hit barrage as the New York Yankees outslugged the Washington Senators 8-6 Friday night.

The Senators, who trailed 8-2 after 3½ innings, chased Fred Talbot in the sixth on singles by Don Lock and Ken McMullen and Paul Casanova's homer.

Steve Hamilton checked the Senators for one inning and Pete Ramos, called on in the seventh with the bases loaded and one out, worked out of the jam and protected Talbot's third victory as a Yankee.

The Yankees collected six hits off Phil Ortega in the first three innings, five for extra bases.

Mantle hit his 12th homer of the year in the first and the Yankees scored two in the second on Elston Howard's double, Hector Lopez' triple and Dick Schofield's sacrifice fly.

They added two in the third on Mantle's single and Pepitone's homer, but wasted Tom Tresh's triple. Schofield's double, a walk, Ed Brinkman's error and another single by Mantle accounted for three runs in the fourth.

White's Big Bat Powers Phillies To 7-0 Victory

The victory was the Phillies' fourth straight.

Jackson, an ex-Cub now 5-7, allowed eight hits but was in trouble only in the first inning when he gave up consecutive singles to Lee Thomas and Billy Williams with one out. He got out of the jam by srtiking out John Boccabella and Randy Hundley.

The Phils jumped on loser Bill Faul for two runs in the second inning, then drove him out with three more in the fourth.

Besides White's fifth inning homer, No. 14 this year, the Phillies collected two triples, two doubles and seven singles against four Chicago pitchers.

Giants Have Potent 1-2 Pitching Punch

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The most potent one-two pitching punch in the majors now belongs to the San Francisco Giants because of the sudden development of Gaylord Perry.

At the start of the season, the list of reliable San Francisco starters began and ended with Juan Marichal, 13-3.

But Perry has come back from a dismal last season, two injuries and the bullpen until he now owns an 11-1 mark with a 2.23 earned-run average. The New York Mets beat him May 15.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers had a 14-2 record through Thursday. But his fellow-holdout, Don Drysdale, who won 23 last year, was only 5-10. This helps explain why the Giants are in first place in the National League and the Dodgers are not.

The Giants always figured Perry would be a standout performer, starting in 1958 when they gave him a reported bonus of $90,000.

The money looked ill-spent last year when Perry posted an 8-12 mark with a 4.18 ERA and 21 homers surrendered in 195 2-3 innings. By August he was exiled to the bullpen.

"I was a little discouraged," said Perry. "But my arm felt good. So I went home and started working out at Christmas."

This season, Perry has given up only one homer in 96 2-3 innings and it didn't hurt him. Batters have discovered they can't follow his hard slider and new sidearm deliveries.

"Jansen (pitching coach Larry) worked with me the last two years on the hard slider," Perry said. "It finally came to me."

The revelation occurred in the outfield at Phoenix during spring training while Perry was casually throwing the ball. The sidearm stuff he began to use as he gained confidence.

"I had thrown some sidearm but not as much as this year," Perry said. "It adds a couple of pitches out there and makes the batters have to watch for more. It's made a big difference."

Another thing Perry has picked up this year is a limp and two bandaged feet. First, he severely sprained his left ankle in a slide on May 24 and had to go on the disabled list for 15 days, missing four turns.

Then, some calcium deposits started acting up on his right foot and he had to leave the team to get some injections of a drug last Monday in Scottsdale, Ariz.

"If I'd been a horse, they'd shot me a month ago," said Perry.

Wind Aid Disallows Girls' Dash Record

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Pernetta Glenn of California's Compton Track Club bettered the American girls' 100-yard dash record Friday but the 10.6 second clocking was disallowed because of a slight wind advantage.

Shortly after Miss Glenn crossed the finish line at the National AAU Women's and Girls' Track and Field Championships, officials checked instruments and announced their decision.

The American and meet record of 10.7 was posted at the 1965 National AAU meet in Columbus, Ohio, by Debbie Thompson of the Frederick Track and Field Club.

Jenda Lee Jones of Phoenix, Ariz., who ran 10.7 in the 100-yard qualifying round Thursday night, barely qualified for the finals while finishing fourth in 11.2

Miss Jones, who won two heats in both the 50 and 100 Thursday night, was eliminated from the 50-yard semifinals. She was timed in 6.2 as compared with her earlier heat times of 5.9 and 6.1.

Beverly Sowden of the Delaware Track and Field Club and Georgia Johnson, New York's Metropolitan Track Club, were timed in 6.0 while running 1-2 in the other semifinal heat of the 50.

In the semifinals of the 50-yard hurdles, three girls were timed in 6.7, including Denise Paschal of San Francisco, who lowered the American record to 6.5 Thursday. Her time was one-tenth of a second below the existing record.

Joining Miss Paschal in the finals with 6.7 clockings were Gail Boyd of the Oregon Girls' Track Club and Lottie Thompson of the Detroit Track Club.

Meet Held On Sales Tax Here

The Monroe City School Board conferred with Mayor W. L. Howard behind closed doors Friday on the status of the much-debated Fifth District sales tax proposal but President W. S. Gannaway said no statement would be forthcoming on the bill "until it comes out of committee in its final form."

School Superintendent Van Odom raised the possibility of additional property taxes if another form of revenue is not found for school operation. Odom foresaw a "second rate" system if teachers salaries are not raised.

The board — on record as opposing the tax — tossed the legislative proposal back and forth in open meeting, concentrating on the effect of an amendment by Sen. Jamar Adcock. A call to Howard brought him to the meeting and the doors were closed in executive session.

Adcock has amended the bill to split revenue from the tax in excess of that needed to implement teacher salary raise schedules between Monroe, West Monroe and Sterlington, with no mention of any surplus going to school boards.

Gannaway said that the label "education tax" was a "misnomer" and called the proposal, which has passed House and Senate and is in committee for concurrence in amendments, "sneaky and underhanded."

The bill, as originally authored by Rep. Lantz Womack, Franklin, would authorize school boards in the Fifth District to call a tax election for a one cent sales levey. The proceeds would go to implementing teacher salary boosts, with excess revenue returned to the parishes for the school systems.

"We are very anxious to implement teachers salaries, Odom said, but he cautioned that there is a "great need for more."

"We cannot continue to operate $6 million in new facilities with the same millage," he added. "We are going to have a second rate school system" if the salaries aren't boosted

Continental Oil Co., Conoco, was awarded the school system's gasoline business for the next six months on a bid of 19.88 cent per gallon.

Architectural changes in a wall at Wossman High School were okayed to accomodate a mural. A cost of $1,600 for the materials for the mural was also passed.

The board gave its approval for the use of Lincoln Elementary School on Elm St. for a polling place at the request of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury.

Delegates To Meet Named By Bureau

Hugh Vick, Elton Arnold and Fred Huenefeld were elected recently as voting delegates to the annual convention of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation, scheduled for Baton Rouge July 17 — 20.

The farmers meet annually to discuss local, state and national problems and issues, with regards to agricultural methods, legislations, and other topics.

Cotton price - controls legislation, opposition to the "conserving base" feature of the Agricultural Act of 1965 (Federal) and its regulations on land clearing are all expected to be topics under discussion. The Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau recently passed resolutions in opposition to all these programs.

HAWAIIAN PARTY

On Monday an Hawaiian party was held for the fathers of rushees and members. The theme for the occasion was "Go To Hawaii". The setting for the gala event was the home of Miss Susan Keko on Forsythe Avenue.

Flowers floating in hollow watermelon halves predominated in decor for each of the serving tables. Various Hawaiian scenes enhanced the colorful theme. An Hawaiian girl figurine completed the party decorations.

RUSH TEA

Continuing the rush parties for the Delta Beta Sigma Sorority a mother - daughter tea was held on Sunday. The setting for the tea was the Spencer Boulevard home of Miss Virginia Harkey.

Greeting guests were Miss Harkey, Mrs. Haynes Harkey, Miss Susan Lary, rush chairman, Mrs. Harrell Lary, Miss Betty Spargo, president and Mrs. Don Spargo.

A magnolia arrangement was the focal point of the decor for the refreshment table in the dining room. Trophies and other honors displayed around the living room included the newest trophy and the favors that the chapter received at the recent convention.

Serving the guests during the appointed hours were Mrs. Charles Vaughan, Mrs. M. H. Jones, and Miss Cheryl LaDart.

Miss Jeanne Yerger Complimented With Bridal Festivities

For the occasion the bride-elect wore a white and green print linen accented with white beads and a cymbidium orchid gift corsage.

Daisies, pompon chrysanthemums and other summer flowers and glistening foliage were noted at vantage points throughout the reception rooms. Branched silver candelabra holding white tapers decorated the entrance and dining area. Noted on a side table was a basket fashioned from a large watermelon holding melon balls. On the basket handle was a cluster of frosted fruits with the ends decorated with flowers fashioned from cucumbers.

Guests sharing the party with the betrothed couple were Mr. and Mrs. William Yerger, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lee Jr., of Monroe, David Lee, Miss Rowland Jones of Vicksburg, Mr. and Mrs. Field Montgomery, William R. Louisiana Beauty Pageant Contestants Feted At Breakfast

Contestants for the Miss Louisiana Beauty Pageant being staged in Monroe, will be honored this morning at a breakfast being given by the Women in Construction.

Serving as hostesses for the occasion at the Newman Club, on Northeast Louisiana State College Campus, are Mrs. Marjana Burroughs, Mrs. Sandra Miletello, Mrs. Frances Carter, Mrs. Corine Lutrick, Miss Elizabeth Shaughnessy, Mrs. Mary Bradford, Mrs. Jean Elmore and Mrs. Arlyne Everitt.

A welcome sign on the door to the club was festooned with daisies. Breakfast will be served buffet style from a table covered with a white lace cloth over yellow, and centered with a colonial arrangement of Majestic daisies with leatherleaf and plumosa in a white rectangular footed compote. The yellow and white theme is to be carried out on tables at which the guests of honor will be seated.

The hostesses will be wearing white banners, lettered in red W. I. C., featuring the insignia and colors of the organization.

Lipstick, Eye Hues Give Radiant Look

After several seasons of no color makeup, cosmeticians are reverting back to lipstick and eye hues that give a more radiant look to a woman's face. Even foundations and other items are featuring definite color tones.

Keyed to the multiple brights found in spring print fashions are two new lipstick hues that take their names from the orchids that grow in the South Pacific. One is a dawn pink and the other a vivid sunset tone. They can either be worn alone or in combination with one another for a more brilliant effect. Matching nail lacquer and cream rouge are also available in these hues.

Sea shades of blue, aquamarine and green are appearing in eye shadow with liners now in soft shades of brown or grey instead of harsh black. These are to be used sparingly, often softened a bit at the edges.

Color veil blushers are considered more important than ever to liven up the complexion. While these tones tend toward beige ones, used with the proper skill they can brighten the face with particular emphasis on the cheekbones. These blushers are also advocated for the tendons of the neck as well.

New products are packaged separately or in attractive combinations. If you are looking for ideas for gifts, you may well select some of the above mentioned items. A hat box that contains matching fragrances of bath salts, perfume mist, soap, bath oil and dusting powder is an ideal gift.

STORAGE

SPARKLE

Lenora Godwin Complimented With Shower

Miss Lenora Godwin, bride-elect of Jerry Burdine, was entertained at a tea shower in the home of Mrs. Dale Cronk on Sherwood Drive on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Parents of the betrothed couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Godwin of West Monroe and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burdine, Shreveport. They have dated their wedding for August 6 in the First Church of Nazarene in West Monroe.

Mrs. Cronk assisted by Mrs. H. B. Roark, Mrs. Everette Johnson, Mrs. Harold Crawley and Mrs. Lawrence Richwine hosted the bridal party which was enhanced by a pink and green color theme. A green cloth overlaid with net covered the party table. Forming a bridal motif was the centerpiece of pink roses and miniature bride and groom figurines. Gracing the table ends were glowing tapers in twin candelabra.

Miss Connie Cronk served punch and Miss Marlene Smith assisted at the coffee service. Miss Godwin was wearing an orchid A-line Model with white accessories. Mrs. Crawley presented the honoree with a cymbidium orchid corsage, a gift of the hostesses.

Jete à Jete

FOLLOWING THREE months visit with relatives in Mississippi, Mrs. Sara Hollingsworth returned home Thursday evening. Her many friends in Monroe will regret to learn she will be moving to Cleveland, Mississippi the first of August where she and her sister, Mrs. R. H. Ray, have already purchased a home.

□ □ □

□ □ □

IN THE CITY visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Zell Smith Sr. are their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rivers and Richard Jr. of Houston, Texas. The Rivers arrived Thursday and plan to return home tomorrow.

□ □ □

MR. AND MRS. R. C. PITTARD of West Monroe, visited in Dallas and Waco the past week. In Dallas they were guests of Mrs. Royal A. Ferris Jr., and visited with Miss Edna Lankhart of Waco. Highlight of the vacation was touring colorful day lily gardens en route to and from their destination.

□ □ □

FOUR SISTERS, Mrs. O. D. Glass of Swartz, Mrs. J. R. Taylor of Downsville, Mrs. L. M. Taylor of Sterlington and Mrs. Guy Aron Ludwig of Farmerville recently visited their brother, James Owens of Melbourne, Florida. Their mother, Mrs. Hugh Owens of Farmerville, accompanied her daughters on the 'reunion' trip. While in Florida they toured Cape Kennedy and returned via the coastal route with a stop-over to visit relatives in Pensacola prior to returning to their respective homes.

Bridal Tea Shower Colorful With Summer Floral Bouquets

Colorful bouquets of summer flowers formed the decorations for a tea shower honoring Miss Jacqueline Burns, bride-elect of James H. 'Bud' Jones, Tuesday. Mrs. J. L. Norris, Mrs. J. E. Dupuy Sr. and Mrs. William Hockstetler hosted the bridal event at Highland Park Country Club, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

The affianced couple have dated their wedding for July 16 in First Presbyterian Church in Baton Rouge at 3 p.m.

Miss Kay Jones and Mrs. J. L. Jones, sister and step-mother of the bridegroom elect, joined the honoree in receiving the guests. Miss Burns was wearing a white stripped ensemble.

For the refreshment table decor roses surrounded a pink and white umbrella. Noted at focal points were arrangements of roses and shasta daisies and pink gladioli.

Guests sharing the bridal party were Mrs. John Atkinson, Mrs. L. D. McElroy and Ann McElroy, Mrs. David King, Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Mrs. Wm. Hochstetler, Mrs. J. L. Fashion Appeal Flying 'High' With Airlines

By FLORENCE DE SANTIS

Airlines these days are as busy upping their fashion appeal as they are with servicing their planes. No sooner had one airline proved that you could color stewardess clothes and even the planes in high fashion tints than another rushed to follow.

National Airlines, which got Oleg Cassini to design a black and white fall-winter stewardess ensemble, has now had the same designer come up with a summer uniform in curry-khaki and paprika red.

NIBBLE, NIBBLE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colleges now are being pressured to put refrigerators in rooms of students, according to a report in "College and University Business," a journal.

The move would prevent students from storing food on window sills. But it also would bring new problems: overloads on electical systems, convenience in storing beer. And once the refrigerator is in the room, the report noted, what's to stop students from moving in a hot plate?

TEARS

Many eyes "water" but only human eyes cry from emotion, although some believe that bears and other animals can shed tears of grief.

WONDERFUL

If you are ambitious and want to bake them, you'll find fruit turnovers are wonderful to take along on a picnic.

MRS. CHARLES KELLY

Wedding Vows Repeated In Navy Chapel

The United Navy Chapel in San Diego, California was the setting of wedding of Miss Donna Lynn Afeman of Ruston and Charles Grayson Kelly, of the United States Navy and Ruston, on June 17, at 6 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Afeman and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kelly, all of Ruston, are the parents of the couple.

Mrs. Afeman wore for her daughter's wedding a pink silk model complemented by black accessories and a corsage of pink and white feathered carnations.

The couple will reside in San Diego. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kelly attended Louisiana Tech in Ruston where she was a member of Kappa Delta Sorority. Mr. Kelly is presently attending Medical Corpsman school at Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego.

Hints From Heloise

Protect Pillow With Cover Made From Terry Toweling

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

My husband perspires so freely that he seems to soak the pillowcase and the pillow while he is sleeping.

I have learned to pin a large white bath towel around the pillow itself, before even putting on the pillowcase!

Mrs. H. Corlett

Now, that the hottest idea since the sun started shining . .

For those with teen - agers who use goop on their hair, this will also protect their pillow casings.

God bless you always.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Often I want to beat just one egg or whip just a small amount of cream.

A regular mixer or egg beater is too big, so I put just one of the beaters in my electric beater.

Mildred Snesrud

Dear Heloise:

Here's a way to make use of all those darling greeting cards (birthday, Christmas, Valentine, Easter, etc.) that our babies and toddlers receive:

I keep the ones picturing puppies, kittens, little children — anything that would interest my baby.

I then punch two holes in the left side of all the cards and string them together on a shoe string. To keep the holes from tearing, those little round reinforcements that we use on loose-leaf papers work perfectly.

My baby now has a book from which he can learn — "This is a puppy" or "This is a kitten," etc.

To top it off, it is a book that will grow with every occasion that calls for greeting cards.

Rosalie Adkins

Dear Folks:

An old friend recently sent me some movie slides that were not in containers or boxes of any sort.

Like a ton of rocks it hit me, "Why not use a plastic carton that tomatoes come in." At least it might hold them and keep them from sliding all over!

It worked!

They fit perfectly into one of the tomato cartons.

To keep them even more secure, I placed another carton over the top of them and held them together with two rubber bands.

One could label them by writing on a piece of adhesive tape and putting it on one end of the carton.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If you have some pretty cotton table napkins that you aren't using any more, make small pillow covers out of them.

Open the napkins and lay one on top of another, sew up three sides and place a pillow (sized to fit) in this case. Use them as throw pillows.

E. M.

Dear Heloise:

To obtain more storage space in your clothes closet, attach a strip of wood about one inch thick and two to three inches wide to the back wall.

This strip of wood can be the same length and heights as the existing clothes rod.

Coat hooks or nails can then be placed at intervals along the strip, thus enabling one to hang little - used items flat against that back closet wall.

That Pretty Teen Face Radiates From Healthy Look

NEW YORK: After spring comes over the window sill, things begin to happen. For one thing, your skin looks different and it isn't just imagination. It's the changing light. For spring days bring clear skies, and a stronger sun aimed at your face.

What will this more radiant light touch? A crystal clear complexion or one that is less than flawless? Blackheads and blemishes, perhaps? Enough to make you want to go into hiding?

If you're with it, what you'll do is this: meet the problem face on. For after spring, it's summer and this is really rough. Days at the beach or by the pool when your skin had better be flawless if the boys are going to be around!

The first thing to do is check your eating habits. If you've been stuffing nuts and desserts and rich gravies into yourself, it's time to give them up. Fast. For these foods may feed more oil to the already oily pores that are producing the blackheads and blemishes.

Whatever you do, don't lose your cool. Use your head instead. First, keep your skin scrupulously clean. Begin by treating your face morning and before bedtime to cleansing gel. Apply it all over your face with special attention to those especially oily areas around nose, chin and forehead.

Apply this gel with clean hands. Work it well into the skin, avoiding your eyes. Rinse off with warm water, then pat your face dry. Now reapply a thin layer to the oily, blemished areas. This will dry to an invisible film that both protects and medicates until the next cleansing.

How will your skin feel? Clean, tingling, exhilarating. This fresh green gel gives your skin the same sensation as a plunge into an icy mountain stream. You can almost feel the oil choked pore openings flushing out and that clean tingle takings its place.

What about your diet? Lucky you. It should be lighter in summer anyway. Don't talk about it to your friends until they slide down into their socks from boredom. Just get with it. Eat lean meat, leafy green salads and drink lots of water — at least two quarts a day.

Remember — any girl looks prettier with her head up and her face lifted to the light. If you've been hiding in the shadows, take a hand mirrow to the window, lift your head to the light and look. You'll see what this does for you.

Mexican Floods

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Eight persons were reported dead and 17 others missing Friday in Jalico state where two rain-swollen streams swept two passenger buses from roads, overturning them in the raging currents.

It was the heaviest single toll reported to sar in widespread floods throughout Mexico, already blamed for a total of 10 lives in Chihuahua, San Luis, Tamaulipas and Veracruz states.

Low-lying areas in Tampico were being evacuated Friday as the Panuco River spilled over in its plunge toward the Gulf. Authorities said it would crest in Tampico today and they were ready to evacuate around 60,000 persons.

The Panuco rose nearly three feet in 24 hours. Dock and fishing wharf areas were partly under water. The town was isolated.

Dear Abby

It Takes Two To 'Tango' And You Have No Partner

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I had a speaking acquaintance with an attractive, but shy, man for two years. He is 37 and I am 26. He has never asked me out, but whenever we'd meet at a church doings or on the street, he seemed glad to see me. About a year ago I got my nerve up and called him on the telephone just to talk. I couldn't get him to say much. About a month later I heard that he was joining the religious life. My heart broke.

After 10 months I heard that he was back home and had to give up the religious life because of illness. I wrote him a letter, welcoming him home, and invited him to a small party. He wrote back and declined. I want so much to know him better. How long should I wait before I start in again? I'd give anything to get him interested in me.

NEEDS HELP

DEAR NEEDS: If you were to ask me how to drive a man away forever, I'd advise you to do exactly what you have done so far in your efforts to attract this man. Don't make any more overtures. It takes two to tango, and apparently this man doesn't care to dance. And if he ever decides to try, he will want to pick his own partner.

DEAR ABBY: After working for a very competent physician for 12 years I have observed that the average citizen acquires his "M.D." with more speed and less expense than the best doctor. In our office we get hourly calls from patients who say, "I have a 'virus,' please have the doctor come up on my lunch hour and give me a shot."

Abby, what this country needs is a side - walk booth, operated on the same principle as a cigaret machine. The patient would deposit a coin, stick him arm in a slot, select the "medication" and get his shot. People wonder "what has become of the good, old fashioned, trusting patient who let the doctor diagnose the case and prescribe the treatment?

AN R.N.

DEAR R. N.: I have a message for the physician who would permit his patient to diagnose and prescribe. "Physician, heal thyself."

DEAR ABBY: I had a mild discussion with my wife because she insists on referring to me as HIM while conversing with others. Example: "Before I married HIM." I have to remind her many times that my name is HARRY, not HIM.

I think it shows a lack of respect to use HIM and HER instead of the person's given name. I will be very much interested in your comments. Thank you. HARRY, NOT HIM

DEAR HARRY: I agree with you. If your wife's problem is a short memory, remind her which name is on your paycheck.

Problems? Write to Abby, News-Star. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage on June 18 of Miss Ruby Autry, daughter of Rev. J. C. Autry of Monroe, to Dennis Crawley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Crawley, also of Monroe. The bride is a student at Ouachita Parish high school. Mr. Crawley was graduated from Ouachita high school and attends Northeast Louisiana State College. After a wedding trip to Biloxi, Miss., the couple is at home in Monroe.

NEW YORK (Special):—Reams have been written about hormones. Will they make women of 75 look 16 again? Absolutely not. Will they make women of 60 feel like they were 20 again?

To know the truth about hormones you need to learn just two simple facts: (1) The beauty of a woman's skin starts breaking down as signs of age begin, because the female organs fail to supply enough estrogenic hormones to feed the skin—less and less as you grow older. (2) Estrogenic hormones can be supplied to the skin by rubbing on a penetrating formula containing the hormones.

Here is a test reported in a scientific journal, one of many that showed similarly sensational results: Twenty-five women applied hormones to one side of the face and neck, and to one hand. On the other side and the other hand, a similar preparation containing no hormones was applied the same way.

Skin was softer, clearer, seemed to lose its chronic dryness and take on a revived freshness and vitality.

All these amazing things happened on the side where the hormones were used. Meanwhile no comparable changes occurred on the other side. The same withered, lifeless complexion.

Now to select a good estrogenic hormone preparation, here is what you need to know: the strength of the hormone preparation must appear on the label! The recommended monthly allotment for the skin is 20,000 International Units.

The base should be as rich as possible in penetrating Sesame Oil and moisturizing Lanolin and when "rubbed in" your skin should not feel greasy or sticky. On first application, your skin should feel a radiant glow of revitalized youthfulness and refreshment.

An extra good buy in hormone products today is a preparation called HORMONEX Beauty Serum. It is made by a trustworthy 50-year-old laboratory.

It is inexpensive to use. A 100-day supply costs only $3.50. Look younger quickly. See these dry-skin wrinkles smooth out, starting today! You may obtain Hormonex Beauty Serum at:

Become Your Own Mrs. Fixit. By Following Suggestions

AP Newsfeatures

As the handyman becomes a disappearing species of worker — and as the husband is often disappearing too when repairs need to be made — more and more women are, through necessity, taking over the chores themselves.

Bruce Cassiday, author of "Practical Home Repair for Women," says there is no reason why women can't make a good job of it. "It only takes a knowledge of tools and materials — and practice."

Don't be self-conscious about using a man's working tools, Cassiday says. "Almost all tools are built so that a woman can manipulate them as easily as a man. In factories, women work with certain tools better than men because they are more careful, more accurate and more patient. You'd be surprised at what you can do once you try it."

To unstick screens and keep them in working order, first jimmy them until they slide up and down, then apply graphite or jellied silicone compound to the grove in the window frame.

To preventing splitting wood when nailing close to an edge, blunt the point of the nail with a hammer. It will then shear through the wood fibers, instead of spreading them apart. It is the sharp point that causes the split.

A steel door is immune to rotting, swelling, warping and sagging, regardless of climate changes or age and wear. Such a door can be bought and installed.

A good rule of thumb is to use a nail three times as long as the thickness of the board being nailed.

Always use a screwdriver with a blade approximately as wide as the screw slot or you may chew up the slot.

Often a short circuit in a plug is caused by something as simple as loose prongs, which accidentally touch each other. It is necessary only to tighten the screws holding the prongs to keep the hot wire (the black wire which brings current to the appliance or switch) and ground wire (the white wire which is usually neutral) separate.

Cassiday suggests that women approach carpentry repair jobs in the same manner they approach making a dress. Shaping and fastening are the two operations required in carpentry, and he feels they're similar to the basic process of dressmaking: attern cutting and sewing.

Cassiday ascribes the ordinary woman's reticene to her lack of familiary with saws, hammers and nails. Men are equally lost with a needle and thread, he notes, yet many a man in military service has darn his socks and sewed up his torn clothing.

His advice to the housewife who can't saw a straight line or pound a nail without bending it is "try again. Remember, it's not the muscular strength you put into a hammer blow that drives the nail, but the accuracy with which you hit the head.

Soldiers Killed Near Leesville

LEESVILLE, La. (AP)—Two young Ft. Polk, La., soldiers were killed instantly early Friday in a one-car accident on Louisiana highway 10 near the Ft. Polk gate.

Officials said the car was traveling toward Ft. Polk and failed to negotiate a curve.

The Ft. Polk Public Information Office identified the victims as Pvt. Peter E. Piper, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond L. Piper, Peoria, Ill; and Pvt. Bruce H. Miller, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, Bensenville, Ill.

MAKE APPOINTMENTS

VATICAN CITY (UPI) —The Vatican secretariat for promoting Christian unity announced Friday the appointment of eight Roman Catholic "observer-consultants" to a conference on social problems sponsored by the World Council of Churches. The Protestant-sponsored conference is to be held in Geneva, Switzerland July 12-26.

Family Reunion Slated Sunday

A church service will be held at 11 a.m., followed by gospel singing and dinner-on-the-ground throughout the day.

Monday through Friday, a revival will be held at the church beginning at 7:30 p.m., with a different speaker each night. The church services are open to the public.

Poem Writing Britishers Battle With Parking Fine

LONDON (AP) — Got a parking ticket? Write a poem about it. The authorities might let you off.

Fletcher parked his car in suburban Enfield. When he returned to his car beside the parking meter, he found he had overstayed his time. A ticket was on his windshield.

Fletcher examined it closely and discovered the traffic warden had made a slight goof.

The ticket he wrote out informed Fletcher that he had outstayed his time, but the ticket said "A.M.," when it should said "P.M." Enclosing two pounds — $5.60 — Fletcher wrote:

Your warden's in a bad dilemma,
He should, of course, said Pip Emma.
Of this offense my hands I wash
And request of you, it to quash.

In British communications slang, Pip Emma means P.M.

Your letter of the 15th to hand,
The gist of which we understand.
The warden was in no dilemma,
He should, of course, said Pip Emma.
But now you've spotted his little snag
But now you will be quite amused,
To find your ticket's been excused.
The two pounds cash you thought you'd save,
Will be the wife's next permanent wave.

In other words: The man who answered with a rhyme, got off without a two-pound fine.

Temple Thieves

TOKYO (AP) — Kenbonchakushokusaruzu is lost and police suspect temple thieves. The 22-letter item, a priceless painting of a monkey on silk cloth considered to be a national art treasure, is missing from Kyoto's Manjuin temple where it had hung since 1570. Authorities reported more than 10 such treasures have disappeared in recent months from temples where they were placed for safekeeping

Mrs. Waelder Dies; Rites Are Pending

Mrs. Byrnie Handy Waelder, 81, died Friday at St. Francis Hospital after a long illness. The widow of Bradley Waelder, she was the last surviving member of a prominent Ouachita Parish family.

Services will be held Sunday at the Mulhearn Funeral Home chapel in Monroe with burial in Hasley Cemetery. Time of services will be announced.

Survivors are several nieces and nephews.

A native of Bastrop, Mrs. Waelder was a long-time local resident. She was a member of the First Christian Science Church in Monroe, and a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Colonial Dames.

She was an early member of the Ouachita Parish Library Board.

Area Officials Take Office

Taking office in Wisner were R. A. Brown, mayor; Eldon S. Brown, marshal; and five aldermen, C. C. Cole, C. E. Ezell, W. A. Mock, T. C. McLaren and Duron Hamilton.

College Sets Holiday Slate

Northeast State College will observe the Fourth of July Holiday Monday with offices being closed and classroom doors being shut. Classes will resume at 7 a.m. Tuesday at which time offices will again open, according to James M. Nicholson, dean of administration.

Dormitories, which were to close at 2:30 p.m. Friday, are scheduled to reopen at 2:30 p.m. Monday along with the infirmary. The Dining Hall closed after the noon meal and will reopen for the evening meal Monday. The College Union will reopen at 6:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The telephone switchboard at the college will reopen at 10 a.m. Monday, while mail will be received, sorted and placed in boxes at the Northeast Post Office today and Monday. The post office will be open from 10 a.m. until noon the two days in order that faculty and staff may call for their mail.

Spanish Bagpipes

GIJON, Spain (AP) — A Roman Catholic Mass with Spanish bagpipe music was celebrated in the cathedral here for the first time in more than a half century. The music for bagpipes, drums, organ and choir was arranged by Spanish composer Enrique Truan. A bagpipe museum was inaugurated the same day.

Vietnamese Peace Issue

Sen. Mansfield Sees Hope In French Words

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Friday he sees less likelihood of Viet Nam peace talks now than in January when he warned the conflict was escalating toward a general Asian war.

But Mansfield said he sees some hope in Thursday's Soviet-French statement on Viet Nam, "If they mean what they say."

The Montanan referred in an interview to the declaration of principle signed by French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny at the end of De Gaulle's Soviet visit. The declaration stated this view on Viet Nam:

"The only possible way out of this situation is a settlement on the basis of the Geneva agreements of 1954 precluding any foreign interference in Viet Nam."

Mansfield said it is "a most general statement" but that "it could be a very optimistic sign if they mean what they say" and "will join the United Kingdom in reconvening the Geneva conference."

The United States, he said, would be willing to join in such a conference" and take it from there."

The Soviet Union has so far rebuffed efforts by Great Britain, its cochairman of the Geneva conference, to get Moscow to join in calling for a reconvening of the conference.

But Mansfield said "the easiest way to bring about the withdrawal of all these foreign troops would be for these two powers to call a reconvening of the conference" to work out some enforceable agreement.

This, Mansfield said, would also include the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops who "have penetrated South Viet Nam to help the Viet Cong."

But if there is no action as a result of the French-Soviet declaration, "if the words remain by themselves as they so often have in the past, they mean nothing," said Mansfield.

The January report by Mansfield and his fact-finding team of four other senators inspired much of the Senate Viet Nam debate last winter by concluding that the situation offered then "only the very slim prospect of a just settlement by negotiations or the alternative prospect of continuance of the conflict in the direction of a general war on the Asian mainland."

Mansfield said the decision to bomb North Vietnamese fuel installations adds to the difficulties of getting the war to the conference table.

He said President Johnson's policy is to "hold out the olive branch and the spear at the same time."

But he said he definitely does not think there is public pressure on the President to step up the tempo of the war.

"I think there is a great deal of uneasiness and frustration in the minds of the majority of the American people," he said, "just as there is in the President's."

Appointments To Board Are Checked

JONESBORO (Special) — Two appointments to the Jackson Parish School Board are still being checked for legality by parish Republicans. Dr. James M. Edwards, chairman of the Jackson Parish Republican Executive Committee, said Friday.

Stressing that his group is dealing with the method used in filling these posts and not the personalities involved, Dr. Edwards explained that they are continuing to pursue the matter with state officials.

The seas in question are from Wards 3 and 4, both filled by appointment, he stated.

Committee officials previously asked for a ruling from Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion on the Ward 4 post pesently held by Robert Breedlove. They contended that an election should be called to choose a representative for the seat in question.

An election call was issued by Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr., then recalled by Gov. John McKeithen, Edwards said, and the group contacted the attorney general. Gremillion ruled, on the basis of information given him at that time, that McKeithen was justified in his actions.

The group then provided Gremillion with additional data in the case, Edwards said, alleging that Robert E. Wright, unopposed for the post in the August, 1964, Democratic primary, moved from the parish before being officially sworn in, and that Breedlove was sworn in on June 9, 1965, after the effective date of the amendment requiring elections to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment 387 of 1964, the basis for Edwards' contentions, provides that elections shall be called to fill unexpired terms, and became effective, he said, on Jan. 15, 1965.

Edwards said Friday that Gremillion again sustained the governor's authority to fill the office in question by appointment, after the additional information was furnished him.

The Republican officials said that this ruling left "several unanswered questions" in the minds of his committee. Among these were: "When did the vacancy in the Ward 4 school board office occur? Why was there such a lapse in time in filling the position, if in fact a vacancy did exist? Why not call an election to fill the office, which would have been held at the time of the regular election with no additional cost to the taxpayer, and would give the people in Ward 4 the privilege to elect their representative?"

He also re-emphasized that the incumbent board member continued to serve until his successor was appointed.

The Ward 3 case involved a recall election, Edwards said, adding that in such a case the law requires that an election be held to fill the post.

The incident concerns Lawson Harvey, he explained, who was recalled on Dec. 1, 1964. Edwards said that he continued to serve on the board, however, until his successor, Leon Pardue, was sworn in on Aug. 17, 1965. He said Pardue was appointed to the position.

"This situation will continue to be researched until a satisfactory explanation for this type of action is given to the people," he said.

He said that the Ward 4 case would be referred to the district and state Republican committees for any further action, and that an attorney general's ruling would be sought on the Ward 3 situation.

Richmond Elects Negro Vice Mayor

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — "I cast my vote for Mundle," said City Councilman Winfred Mundle. And he got enough white support Friday to become the first Negro vice mayor of the capital of the old Confederacy.

The selection of Mundle, by a 5-4 vote, came as a surprise. Another of the city's three Negro councilmen on the nine-member body, B.A. Cephas, had appeared in line for the honor.

But Mundle, first elected to the council in June, won his new post by going against the wishes of Richmond's powerful Negro voter organization, the Crusade for Voters. The Crusade had launched an unprecedented pressure move to effect the election of Cephas.

Cephas himself set the tone for the turnabout at City Council's reorganization session — it picks its own leaders — when he said: "I have always believed that no one can respect you if you don't respect yourself, so I vote for Cephas."

When the voting reach Mundle, he said: "Following the line of thought suggested by Mr. Cephas, I cast my vote for Mundle." So did four of the six white councilmen.

When voters sent three Negroes to the council in the June 14 election, Negro interests felt — as did many white officials — that a Negro should be vice mayor.

And the Crusade for Voters, in an "emergency request," urged a massive atempt to persuade Mundle to vote for Cephas for vice mayor. Mundle had indicated he would vote for the re-election of Mayor Morrill M. Crowe, who won Friday.

Mundle, 57, is a branch manager for a large Negro life insurance company. He has been active in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and served in the Navy during World War II.

"I know I have a big job ahead of me," he said, "with a tremendous responsibility. But I like it, and I'm willing to accept the responsibility."

He sees the community, both white and Negro, equally involved in Richmond's problems.

"We are making progress and will continue to do so as long as there is teamwork," he said. "We have problems, yes; but we are isolating and defining them, the first step toward a solution. We simply cannot afford to fail to pull as a team.

"I just want to do the job at hand. I am humble — at least I think I am."

Mother Booked For Drowning 3 Children

FAIRFIELD, Maine (AP) — Three warrants charging murder were sworn out Friday against Constance Fisher, 37, whose three young children were found drowned in their rural home Thursday.

The deaths were almost a duplication of a tragedy 12 years ago. Mrs. Fisher was committed to a state hospital after her first three children also drowned.

The mother, awaiting arraignment in District Court at Skowhegan, sat quietly in a hallway of the courthouse. Her eyes were closed and her face pale but she showed no emotion.

City Court Dominated By Traffic

Traffic violations dominated a session of Monroe City Court Friday afternoon, presided over by acting Judge William Crow, while various other cases including theft and theft by check charges were heard.

James E. Gibson, 613 S. 5th St., forfeited a $100 bond on a theft by check charge. Similar charges against William M. Bubnich, 1603 S. 12th St., and Jerry M. Honeycutt, 1502 S. 7th, Monroe, were nolle prossed.

Theft charges against L. B. Williams, address listed on police records as Dunlap Street; George Stockstill, St. Martinville; and James Q. Williams, Bossier City, were all nolle prossed.

Charles R. Biggar, 1402 N. 7th St., West Monroe, was given a six months suspended sentence on good behavior on a theft charge. A charge of simple battery against James Oliver, 2502½ Oliver Rd., was dropped. A similar charge against June Roland, 1418 Olive St., was nolle prossed, while she was fined $30 for public drunkenness.

Floyd Drungole, 920 Beverly St., was fined a total of $280 on charges of public drunkenness, discharging a firearm inside the city limits and simple battery. Kenneth D. Powell, 2807 Lee Ave., was fined a total of $260 on charges of public drunkenness, disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon.

Howard D. Gavin, Biloxi, Miss., was sentenced to six months in city jail for simple escape. Milton Young, Rossie Alley, was fined a total of $60 for public drunkenness and simple escape. Melvin B. Hendrix, 1703 S. 4th St., forfeited a $445 cash bond for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and running a red light.

Gary A. Hummel, 2509 N. 11th St., West Monroe, was fined $32 for speeding.

Speeding — James M. Maryweather, 3621 Curry St., $10; Thomas K. Reighney, 103 Mallard St., West Monroe, $15; Bobbie J. Stump, Rt. 1, DeLoach St., $8; Ronald C. Packer, 501 Glenmar St., $25; George W. Levert Jr., 1205 College Ave., $17; George D. Faircloth Jr., 1109 S. 5th St., $5; and John Claude Murphy, 1110 Jackson St., $8.

Negligent driving — Eugene Wooten, 2928 Jackson St., $30; Kenneth G. Jackson, Rt. 2, Box 336, West Monroe, $10; George M. Campbell, 2019 Park Ave., $10.

Cause Of Hazy Days Not Clear

For the past several days, a haze has been evident in the sky but usually clears following rainfall.

"Very fine particles of moisture," says the U.S. Weather Bureau at Shreveport.

The Weather Bureau at Jackson, Miss., says it's fine particles of dust and smoke. This view is more in line with the answer given by the Weather Bureau at New Orleans.

The Weather Bureau at Memphis, Tenn., says it's a combination of both.

But the Weather Bureau at Kansas City, Kan., though agreeing that dust particles are partially responsible, says there's something else up there.

Salt.

The bureau at Kansas City said minute salt particles, in combination with dust particles is the likely explanation. It insists, however, there is no moisture.

Whatever the answer, there's no cause for concern. It happens every summer.

Anniversary

RAYVILLE (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevenson of Rayville, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday being honored by their three children. An open house from 2 to 5 p.m. will be held at their home at Rt. 2, Rayville.

U. N. President

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Chief S. O. Adebo of Nigeria started Friday a month's term as president of the U.N. Security Council, taking over from the June president, Frank H. Corner of New Zealand. The presidency rotates among the 15 nations on the council in their alphabetical order.

Observance Of Holiday Is Slated

Observance of the Fourth of July Holiday has been planned by various organizations in the Twin Cities, as the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce, for the first time since 1962, will accompany its annual July 4th fireworks display with a renewal of the Jaycee - sponsored "Picnic in the Park."

The American Legion and its Twin City, state and national posts have united in urging churches and other institutions to participate in "bell ringing for freedom" at 2 p.m. Monday.

The local Daughters of the American Revolution — Chief Tusquahoma Chapter, West Monroe — and the Children of the American Revolution — Lt. Joseph Bowmar Society —are calling for residents to fly the flag prominently throughout the day.

The DAR, as well, has asked a massive pealing of area bells at noon on the Fourth in honor of the nation's birthday and patriots who died to establish American independence — all symbolized in the signing on July 4, 1776, of the Declaration of Independence.

The Monroe Jaycees, under the chairmanship of Gene Burnham, announced Friday their coming day - long picnic in the city's Forsythe Park. Due to start at 11 a.m., the program will include varied activities, although a full listing of events still is under preparation.

Virtually set, however, are performance by area bands — school and otherwise — a fire department "barrel fight" with high - pressure hoses, and numerous public participation games. The day will conclude at 8 p.m. with the explosion of a $1,000 stock of fireworks, slated for the stadium at Neville High School.

Burnham urged residents to bring picnic lunches to Forsythe and "enjoy plenty old-fashioned Fourth of July events, courtesy of the Jaycees and the city." Monroe police will handle traffic throughout the day and assist the local fire department later at the fireworks extravaganza, he said.

Lined up for political oratory during the day are candidates for Monroe city judge, for the Louisiana Public Service Commission, and for seats on the Ouachita School Board.

Burnham listed sub-chairman on the "Picnic in the Park" as Frank Parrino, Bill Broddie, Dick Retizell, Ken Wagley, Frank Cerniglia and Jim Dimos.

"Happy Birthday, U.S.A." was the wish extended Friday from the Children of the American Revolution, as they reminded the Twin Cities and area to fly the American flag on the Fourth.

"Bells throughout the nation should ring out for freedom on the Fourth of July in this American Legion - sponsored reminder of our precious heritage," said Dupont. "At the same time, these bells will serve as an expression of America's unity of purpose in the defense of freedom."

The Legion's bell ringing for freedom program was established by the organization's executive committee in 1965, and Monday will be the first renewal of the effort.

"What we're trying to do is to put the glory back into the glorious Fourth," pointed out Mrs. James L. McGuire, public relations chairman of the local Daughter of the American Revolution, in calling for noon bell ringing.

"We want to celebrate this 190th birthday of the Declaration of Independence with all the patriotic fervor and fanfare possible," she added. "Let your patriotism show, fly Old Glory on the Fourth and ring a bell at noon."

Grove Takes Center Post

Assuming duties as director of the Monroe Regional Mental Health Center, formerly known as the Monroe Area Guidance Center, Friday was Dr. Douglas William Greve, graduate of Tulane University.

In addition to the Monroe Center, Dr. Greve will be in charge of the satellite clinics in northeast Louisiana. Announcement of the new director was made by Hilton Lytle, counselor at the Ouachita Valley Vocational-Technical School, newly elected chairman of the board of directors.

New Officers

WINNSBORO (Special)—The Franklin Parish Farm Bureau has elected its slate of officers for the coming year.

They are H. B. Ethridge, president; Ray Sharpe, first vice president; and J. B. Eley, secretary-treasurer.

'Copter Crash Fatal To Man, Hurts 3 More

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — One of four men hurt in an Army helicopter crash died Friday in Keesler Air Force Base hospital at Biloxi. He was Spec. 5 Billy C. Guy, 23, of Meridian, Miss.

A hospital spokesman said the helicopter pilot, Chief Warrant Officer Bill Hagler, 39, and Spec. 5 Richard C. Blackwell, 28, both of Meridian, remain in serious condition.

Lt. Charles E. Chisolm, 28, of Montgomery, Ala., was listed as satisfactory.

The BH19C helicopter crashed 14 miles north of Gulfport Wednesday night, ripping down some power lines in its fall. The wreckage burned.

All four men were from an Army air ambulance evacuation unit. The helicopter was en route from Keesler to Camp Shelby, near Hattiesburg, Miss., where National Guard summer encampment activities are under way.

Sales Tax Measure Goes To Committee

By MILO DAKIN
World Legislative Correspondent

BATON ROUGE — A Fifth District sales tax authorization, heavily amended in the Senate before passing came into the House Friday and was thrown into a conference committee to work out differences.

It has now passed the House and Senate and final details will be left to the six man committee to work out. It will come out of the committee Wednesday morning for concurrence.

Before passing the Senate Friday morning with only one dissenting vote, Ouachita Parish was amended back in by Sen. Jamar Adcock, Monroe, sidestepping an earlier move by Rep. George Wood to keep his parish out.

A surprise amendment by Sen. J. C. Gilbert, Sicily Island, was tacked on providing for increased pay for industrial and trade school instructors. Indications are the conference committee will take this amendment off.

Adcock and Rep. Lantz Womack, Franklin, author of the bill, said Friday lawmakers from the Fifth District will meet Tuesday night to work out differences and details on distribution before the conference committee reports back to the House.

Two plans have been discussed — one dividing the excess over salaries with 20 per cent to school boards, 40 per cent to police juries and the remaining 40 per cent to municipalities. Another plan breaks it down into even one thirds, with the exception of Ouachita Parish where a special amendment will be in effect.

The Ouachita plan gives Monroe 75 per cent of the parish excess, 22 per cent to West Monroe and three per cent to Sterlington.

Figures on the exact amounts needed for salary implementation for school teachers and bus drivers in each parish, and the surplus to be divided, will be released Wednesday after lawmakers have worked out their differences, Adcock said.

If passed, the bill authorizes school boards in the Fifth District to call a one cent sales tax election, primarily to fully implement school salaries.

Over $5 million would be collected annually in the 14-parish district based on current sales tax figures. Just over half of that is needed to fully implement salaries for every school teacher and bus driver in the district.

Nudists Need No High Walls

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) —A judge ruled Friday that nudists in Kentucky do not have to build 20-foot walls to shield themselves from the eyes of the curious.

He said they need no walls at all.

The judge also ruled that nudist societies no longer have to pay a $1,000 a-year license fee.

In declaring unconstitutional Kentucky laws regulating nudist societies, Court of Appeals Judge Squire Williams said the laws "are so unreasonable as to be prohibitive."

Indian Reds Attack USIA At Calcutta

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — Indian Communists attacked the U.S. Information Agency library in downtown Calcutta on Friday in protest against American bombings of North Viet Nam fuel depots Near Hanoi and Haiphong.

Yelling, "Hands off Viet Nam!" and, "American imperialism go to h—!" about 20 students splashed kerosene over the library's display boards and furniture and started a fire.

A U.S. spokesman said the demonstrators were stopped at the reception desk and that the intruders fled when police were called. Damage was slight and no library employe was hurt, the spokesman added, but two policemen and a Communist were hurt by flying stones.

In New Delhi, a mob of about 400 marched on the U.S. Embassy at dusk. While most were held back by police, a delegation was allowed to enter the embassy to present a petition denouncing the bombings.

De Gaulle Home

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle flew home from his state visit to the Soviet Union on Friday with an unheralded fellow traveler — a bear cub given to him on a tour of Novosibirsk, Siberia. The president turned the bear over to the Vincennes Zoo in eastern Paris.

Stolen Trawler Found Aground

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — The stolen shrimp trawler Wendy Ann and Bubba was recovered Friday and returned to Morgan City. It was found abandoned where the thief had run aground south of Dulac.

The 72-foot trawler, owned by W. B. Kornegay of nearby Patterson, was minus some of its 2,100 pounds of shrimp but had suffered no apparent damage.

The theft remained under investigation but Sheriff Baudoin said he had no idea who took the boat or why.

Aid To Tourists

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tourism Chief Agustin Salvat announced a new service to tourists in addition to the widely thanked green trucks that patrol Mexico's major highways giving broken-down motorists free help. The latest is special beach patrols posted to prevent drownings and otherwise help bathers.
